Could Be Good Building Year: Says Stroner

by CHRIS SPECHT

According to Antioch Building Commissioner Dick Stroner, 1986 promises to be a banner year for new construction, but the amount of construction will rely heavily on zoning changes and interest rates.

"There is a lot of stuff on paper," said Stroner, "it could be a super year."

Plans of a more definite nature will be carried out on North Ave. where Belmont Construction will begin the first phase of a 150 lot development consisting of 19 multiple family dwellings and 84 duplexes.

Stroner said that Belmont will definitely construct prototypes of the duplexes on the property this year that will have no plumbing or electricity but will serve as models for prospective buyers.

Stroner said that the majority of the construction on the land this year will probably consist of the building of roads and the installation of water and sewer lines. The water and sewer plans have already been approved by the village board but some engineering work needs to be done and E.P.A. permits are still being processed.

Stroner also reported that new construction would continue at two area subdivisions. The most construction will probably occur at the Oakwood Knolls subdivision located on Cross Lake just off of North Avenue. Stroner said that he expects the "usual 20-25 houses" to be added to the 90 home subdivision over the course of the next year. Stroner said that he has received three applications for building permits in the past week alone.

Stroner does not expect as much building to take place at the more upscale Village Green subdivision located east of town on North Avenue, but he does expect to see at least a few houses constructed there in 1986. Stroner cited the higher market value of the homes as the reason Village Green would not attract a larger number of houses.

There are also some restaurants and fast food chains planned for the corner of Rt. 173 and Rt. 83, and on Feb. 3 the Antioch Village Board approved preliminary plans submitted by Al Little for a 78 acre subdivision to be located on Depot St. Both of these projects, however, are still in the planning stage, and actual construction may still be over a year away.

Another project that is expected to take place this year is the open mall and parking area planned for two acres of land on Main St. The project is the result of a two year effort by the Antioch Redevelopment Commission.

Michael Warren, of the Antioch Redevelopment Commission, said that the site must still be laid out and bids must be taken before construction can begin. Nevertheless, Warren hopes that construction can begin within the next six weeks.

Horses Recover

One of the more sickly horses from the Liberty Retreat is recovering on the Savage Rd. farm of Cathy Piasecki, an investigator with the Illinois Hoofed Animal Humane Society. The horse is kept in a sling because it is still too weak to stand under its own power. Piasecki said it may take as long as two months before the animal is fully recovered from the effects of starvation. Last week the society took custody of the animals after it was determined that the owner J.R. Baker was not providing suitable care for them. Many of the animals that are in better shape remain at the Liberty Retreat on Deep Lake Rd., but some, like the mare shown above are receiving special care from the society.

Gastons Sell Print Shop

Norman Biller, of Biller Press and Manufacturing has bought the A and B Printing Company of Antioch and plans to base his entire operation there as of March 1.

The A and B Printing Company was owned by Harold Gaston who owned the Antioch Reporter until he sold it in 1969. The Biller Press was owned by Harold's brother Howard Gaston who started his own company 29 years ago. Biller bought the company in 1973, but the company was not known as the Biller Press until Biller changed the name last year.

The Biller Press prints parking tickets for communities through out the United States and Canada, while the A and B Printing Company does commercial jobs such as letterheads, brochures, and other types of business printing.

Although he plans to move the equipment from The Biller Press to the location of A and B Printing on 966 Victoria St. in Antioch, Biller said that he has no plans to change the basic operation of the two companies, including the size of the staff.

The Gaston Brothers are the sons of Homer Gaston who bought the Antioch News in 1925, the sale of the A and B Printing Company ends over sixty years of printing and publishing by the Gaston family in Antioch.

Antioch Youth Baseball Prepares For '86

by CHRIS SPECHT

With the ground covered with snow and temperatures well below freezing, the furthest thing from most peoples minds is baseball. Yet on Feb. 21 another season of Antioch Youth Baseball will begin as area youngsters line up to register at the Antioch Scout House.

Although registration marks the beginning of the new season, it is really part of a group effort that has been taking place since last October.

Antioch Youth Baseball Board President Bob Howes said that the major task in preparing for the new season was collecting the equipment that had not been turned in from the previous season. Howes said that Vice Presidents Gary Wilke and Joe Bivona put most of the effort into this difficult task.

Antioch Youth Baseball consists of six separate leagues, the first two, T-Ball and (Continued on Page 10A)

Dealerships Offer Good Deals

When taking a car in for repairs many car owners usually shy away from dealer service centers. It seems that dealer services centers have a reputation for being over priced, but Bob Kouba of Lyons-Ryan Ford Lincoln Mercury, at 104 Rt. 173 in Antioch, thinks this reputation is undeserved.

"A lot of people get the impression that dealer service centers are more expensive," said Kouba, "but we can be competitive."

The service center at Lyons-Ryan handles about 1500 cars per month. The center employs 13 technicians, 2 service advisors, and a service manager who, according to Kouba, put quality work as one of their top priorities.

"We are basically designed for a commitment to quality, zeroing in on customer satisfaction," explained Kouba.

One of the ways the Lyons-Ryan center achieves high quality is by testing all of their repairs on the road after the work is done.

The center also insures quality work by making sure that all of their technicians have are trained and certified by the Ford Motor Company. The center promotes quality work on its own by giving a Technician of the Month Award for quality work. Kouba feels that these are nesscessary steps to take considering the changes automotive engineering has undergone in the past few years.

"With the advance of cars into the age of computers," explained Bob, "a dealership is the only place with the technical ability to diagnose or repair these computer related problems."

Scarpelli Recognized

The Active Adults of America, a youth group sponsored by St. Peter's Church, present an award to Raymond Scarpelli of Raymond Chevorlet, 120 W. on Rt. 173 in Antioch, in recognition for his support of their group. From left are: Bob Gagnon, advisor, Dan Stella, representative, Kim Soltis, President, Ray Scarpelli, Becky Weeks, Secretary, and Pat Doyle, representative. Not pictured are Vice-President Jenny Haley, Treasurer Brad Hamlin, and Sergeant at Arms, Kate Stack. Membership in the Active Adults of America is open to all teenagers who wish to join. The group meets twice a month.

Choral Festival Set For Feb. 24

The fourth Annual North Suburban Choral Festival will be held at Antioch Community High School Monday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p.m., in the school's gymnasium.

The festival choir will bring together nine school and approximately 500 singers. The schools involved are Zion-Benton, Warren, North Chicago, Libertyville, Lake Forest, Stevenson, Fenton, Niles North and Antioch.

These students begin working together at 9:30 a.m. Monday and continue rehearsing until 4 p.m. The evening culminates with a concert at 7:30 p.m. This experience for these singers is most rewarding. They learn to work together and form new friendships.

Dr. Weston Noble, of Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, is the guest clinician for the festival. Dr. Noble is world renowned for his work as a clinician and a choral director.

Fashion Show Will Be 'Event Of The Year'

Jacque Vogt, of 24288 W. Hawthorn Lane, in Antioch, is one of the Co-Chairman of "Predictions in Fashion," a fashion show sponsored in part by Hawthorn Center, which will benefit The Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The show will be held on Feb. 23 in the Grand Ballroom of Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort. Cocktails will be served at 11:30 a.m. and a luncheon will be served at 12:30, the show will begin at 1:30 p.m. Other models for the show will include guest celebrities Tom Thayer of the Chicago Bears, Larry Leaf-brod, of WKRS-WXLC, and Mal Bellairs, columnist for North Shore Magazine.

Another Antioch resident Angela Maras, is directing Hawthorn Center's involvement in the fashion show. Maras said that the models will be wearing clothes from stores located at Hawthorn Center, as well as furs from the Mink Barn in Union, and Coururier Designs by Mira of Glenview. The show is being coordinated by Jeyne Jacobs, a modeling director for Patricia Stevens Career College in Milwaukee, and Co-Chairman Darlene Leonard of Kondel Hospital, and Dee Ryan, a special events coordinator at Sears.

Door prizes will be awarded, including a trip for two to Hawaii, compliments of Best Travel and MTI Vacations, as well as five other excellent prizes.

According to Maras, about 700 tickets have been sold almost selling out the ballroom which has a capacity for 800 people.

"I am overwhelmed with response to this benefit," said Maras, "it shows that there is a mutual concern for this problem."

Maras said that the show will feature dance and comedy numbers as well as fashion.

"It will be the most exciting event of the year," promised Maras.

Smejkal Named As Supt.

The Grass Lake School Dist. 36 and the Lotus Dist. 10 Boards of Education have approved the resignation of their shared superintendent, Richard Hogan, effective in February.

Hogan has accepted the position as superintendent of the Lisle Community Unit Dist. 202 in DuPage County. The Lisle Dist. is a K-12 unit with five buildings—a high school, a junior high and three elementary schools with a total enrollment of nearly 2,000 students.

Both Lake County boards, Grass Lake and Lotus, accepted his resignation so that he could avail himself of this opportunity for professional advancement.

The two boards have contracted with Art Smejkal to serve as interim superintendent from February through June. Each of the boards has selected a three-person committee to work with the Illinois Assn. of School Boards in order to conduct a search for a new superintendent for next year.

Dining/Entertainment Planning For McHenry's Fiesta Days Underway

The Sesquicentennial edition of McHenry's famous Fiesta Days is in the various stages of the dynamics of planning.

Participants on all levels are cordially encouraged to offer their talents, time, suggestions, information, leads and/or ideas. Now is the time to impact Fiesta Days.

Jon Meyer, entertainment chairman, requests that prospective entertainers submit audition tapes, records, or a schedule of appearances to assist the entertainment committee in making the choices for the various nights of this eight-day festival. All information should be directed to the Fiesta Days Board, 1257 N. Green St., McHenry, Illinois 60050.

Meyer encourages, "We are always looking to improve the entertainment that we offer during Fiesta Days. We invite suggestions, as well as presentations from the group. We want to present the best we can manage to offer and invite as much input from the community as there is to be offered in order to accomplish this. Fiesta Days is a community effort. We warmly welcome all community involvement. Just drop us a line and we will be in touch."

Fiesta Day's Chairman Sue Low states, "The basic framework for the eight days is in place. However, there are many spaces to be filled in and new ideas can easily be worked into that which is already in place. Now is the time we would like to hear from individuals, organizations, or businesses so that we are using the best that the community has to offer in the final choices of the Fiesta Days agenda.

This is everyone's opportunity to participate. This festival is McHenry, of McHenry, by McHenry, for McHenry and for McHenry's guests. It is our collective pride. It is the actualization of our collective ideas. Add your contribution to that collection by jotting down whatever you have to offer and directing it to the Fiesta Days Board, 1257 N. Green St., McHenry. Fiesta Days is the comingling of the talents and efforts of many for the enjoyment of all.

Fashion Leaders

Bob Bamford, Libertyville, Ann Kakacek, Antioch, and Gene Martin, Libertyville, co-chariman of the "Predictions in Fashion," American Cancer Society, Lake County Unit benefit, are all set for their appearance. The Feb. 23 luncheon and fashion show will be held at Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort. Martin is a member of the Lake County Board and a retired Grayslake bank executive.

Koch To Perform

Gorton Community Center will offer a special "Tiny Tots Concert" for children aged two through six years.

Singer-musician 'Fred Koch will be the featured performer for the concert, which will take place at 10 a.m. on Saturday, March 1. The special event will be held in Gorton's Community Room where children and their parents will be able to sit on the floor around the performers allowing for a casual and fun-filled atmosphere.

Koch, who will be joined by singer Teddi Bujewski and pianist Bobby Wright, will perform musical selections from one of his children's recordings, "This Lil' Cow." The performance will last 45 minutes to an hour.

Tickets are priced at $1.50 each and are available at Gorton Community Center, Illinois and McKinley Rds. in Lake Forest, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

For further information, call the Gorton office at (312) 234-6060.

Schedule Camping Exposition

Camping is one of America's top favorite sport and travel interests. It appeals to families of all ages...today's campers ultimately become tomorrow's seniors, oriented to travel. It's estimated, one of every four adults have some camping experience. That's over 60 million of us. It rates camping as the third most popular participating travel sport in the nation. This growing figure may reach 64 million by 1990.

Those wanting to brush up on camping, related equipment and general travel, may do so at the 18th Annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show at O'Hare Expo Center, in Rosemont. It opens Friday, Feb. 21, and runs through Sunday, March 2. Adult admissions are $5. $2 for those 13 and under.

In addition to the pleasures of camping, a 1984 industry study confirmed, recreation vehicle vacations as money savers. The study determined, an average family of four can save 50 percent against comparable car/motel vacations. The percentage of savings applies equally to weekend trips, mini-vacations or three weekers.

Based on an 84-city study, nightly campsite rates were $10.46 and $50.24 for motel rooms. Not only a money saver, but camping is a great boost to family togetherness, important at a time when a parents number of children is sometimes exceeded by a child's number of parents.

Going to Over 1,500,000 Households in Known Boating Areas

A syndicated news feature promoting boating activities, found in, over 150 different weekly community newspapers around the country — going this week, to over 1,500,000 homes in known boating areas.

EDITORIAL OFFICES: John Wooldridge, Editor; 15 Wardour Dr.; Annapolis, MD 21401; (301) 267-0702.

ADVERTISING OFFICES: Boater's Page; Box 14, 301 Cottonwood Ave.; Hartland, WI 53029; (414) 367-0880.

BOAT SHOWS

Strictly Sail, a show born out of the popularity of boat shows. Dealers of "Strictly Sailboats" that didn't have any space priority at boat shows usually dominated by Power Boat dealers decided to get together and try to have their own show.

Things all came together so well and so fast, and the Waukesha Expo Center will be so full of Sailboats February 20th through February 23rd, that late-coming spectators will probably have to stand in line to get in. Thirty-five sailboats of all sizes and shapes — a sight not seen in the Wisconsin-Illinois area ever! CALL BOATER'S PAGE 414-367-0880. (20)

TEN YEAR FINANCING ON STERN DRIVES

According to National Marine Bankers Association President William Otto 312-836-4747, 1985 saw more financing in 18' to 26' stern drive power boats than in any other category. One of the reasons is that a 26' stern drive boat costing approximately $25,000 can be financed over 10 years to the tune of around $290 per month.

FISHING CONTEST

In 1985 Yamaha Outboard Motors established the Tournament Bonus Program, designed to pay the winners of local and regional fishing contests prize money above and beyond tournament awards — just for having a Yamaha on the transom. In 1985 Yamaha paid out 177 bonuses to 47 winners fishing 15 different species of fish. For 1986, Yamaha will again offer $1,000 prizes to the first prize winners of selected tournaments. CALL HAM HAMBURGER 714-761-7822 to see which tournaments in your area qualify. (21)

CONSUMER REPORT FOR BOATERS

An exclusive, 16-page report entitled "The Best of Boating Equipment Sports" contains some of BOAT/U.S.'s FACT FINDINGS ON MARINE GEAR. From binoculars to electronics, the BOAT/U.S. staff comments on durability, usefulness, strength and limitations. CALL DIANE WILSON 703-823-9550.

On the subject of Consumer Report-type publications, there is a publication called Practical Sailor, which is published twice each month, without any advertising, giving reports on all sorts of sailing gear. CALL 401-849-7483 for more information. (22)

HANDY PRODUCTS

Rule Industries has developed two new removable winches that attach to a car or truck or whatever to assist in pulling boats onto trailers. AMERICA'S CUP NOTES

In just under a year the first race for the America's Cup will get underway in Perth, Australia. Of the nine new American 12-meters being built, four are complete and in competition. Both the New York Yacht Club Syndicate, skippered by John Koliou, and Sail America from San Diego, skippered by Dennis Connor, appear to be the strongest front-runners. One reason is that they each have strong fund-raising arms. Another is that they both had quite a jump on the competition.

AMERICA'S CUP — MIDWEST

The Chicago Yachting Association has gotten their member clubs to pledge support to the Heart of America's Challenge, which is headed up by Buddy Melges and Gary Jobson. For an exciting update on the Heart of America Challenge, simply write to the address below, at which time you will also be placed on a mailing list for future updates. The thought of a future America's Cup Challenge taking place on Lake Michigan has stirred the hearts, minds and pocketbooks of many in the Midwestern area. You can send your contribution to The Heart of American Challenge, 11 S. LaSalle St., Suite 1670, Chicago, IL 60603. (24)

$15,000 IN FISHING CONTEST PRIZES!

The Evinrude/Ranger Walleye Open will be held on Father's Day Weekend, June 13-15. Last year the Minocqua (WI) Tournament drew over 400 fishermen competing for $15,000 in prizes. The addition of two divisions, both professional and family, should make this year's participation even greater. CALL RON PEDDERSON 414-354-2322 for details. (25)

Fashion Show Sunday, Feb. 23

Celebrity models, couturier designs by Mira and furs from the Mink Barn will be featured at the "Predictions in Fashion" luncheon and fashion show Sunday, Feb. 23, at Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort (Rte. 21, just south of Rte. 22).

"Jeyne Jacobs of Patricia Stevens always provides an entertaining show with surprises for the audience. We tried to keep a realistic ticket price of $17.50 so we expect a good turn out for this event," says general chairman Angela Maras, Antioch.

The GFWC Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs 10th Dist. is sponsoring the benefit for the American Cancer Society Lake County Unit. Tenth Dist. President Mary Goodman, Mundelein, has ticket information at (312) 566-0279.

Cocktails will be served at 11:30 a.m. in the Grand Ballroom with luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Winners of the drawing will be announced following the 1:30 p.m. fashion show, which will include ensembles from Hawthorn Center stores.

Prize chairman Alvera Morgan, Antioch, explains, "You need not be present to be eligible for the raffle drawings. However, door prizes will be awarded only to those in attendance."

Grand prize is one week for two in Hawaii, including airfare and accommodations at the Hilton Hawaiian Village, courtesy Bert Travel, Hawthorn Center and MTI vacations. For the $1 donation (six for $5) you might also win: a two night deluxe interlude at the Ritz Carlton, including champagne, continental breakfast and dinner for two, complete with limo service; a "Night on the Town" for six hours, with a chauffeured Rolls Royce Limosine Service and dinner at Sweetwater in Chicago; an overnight stay for two at the Holiday Inn Gurnee, with dinner at Zackeray's and tickets to Six Flags Great America; use of a 20-foot Mini Motor Home for one week, courtesy Bernard Chevrolet.

Additional chairmen for the benefit include: general co-chairmen, Jeann Frank of Grayslake and Gene Martin of Libertyville; publicity, Trudy Theiss of Barrington; food, Caroline Costoff of Antioch; bar, Shauna Scott of Evanston; program, Joyce Spencer of Zion; and table prizes and decorating, Ida Standley of Lake Forest.

Award Jacobs

Professionals To Appear At Bowl-A-Thon Feb. 23

Chicago Bear Brian Cabral and Chicago Sting players, Mark Simonton and Derek Spalding, will appear at the Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County's Fifth Annual Celebrity Day Sunday, Feb. 23, at Brunswick Lanes in Waukegan.

Celebrity Day is the culmination of eight days of the Big Brothers/Big Sisters' Bowl-For-Kids-Sake events held at several bowling lanes throughout the county. Bowlers have been raising money for the organization by obtaining pledges from sponsors for each pin they score.

On Celebrity Day, individuals or teams of four or five bowlers can participate by registering at Brunswick Lanes between 12:30 and 1 p.m. Sponsors sheets are available from the Big Brothers/Big Sisters office.

The day's activities, to be hosted by Chicago actor and comedian Joel Becker, will begin with Lake County Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox rolling the first ball at 1 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for various fund raising achievements in the bowl-a-thon, including a 19-inch color television.

CLC Ranks Ninth

The College of Lake County (CLC) ranked ninth in the state for 1985 Title XX reduction of Public Aid grants. The 111 adults who found jobs last year after training at CLC saved taxpayers nearly $344,000, according to state education officials.

All the adults were on public aid when they enrolled in adult education or job skills classes. Returning to the work force ended or lowered public subsidies by $28,627 per month.

The Illinois Dept. of Public Aid keeps records of aid recipients who enroll at CLC. When they get part-time jobs, aid is reduced accordingly. A full-time job usually removes them from public aid rolls.

Across the state, 2,719 people found work reducing monthly aid by $729,537, state officials said. CLC's adult basic education, or federal Title XX classes are offered free to public aid recipients, according to Betty Robertson, assistant to the director, CLC Lakeshore Campus.

Lads Set Date

The Original Scotch lads with Larry Leafblad will make one of their limited engagements in Antioch on Saturday, March 1 for the campaigns of Grayslake's Norm Geary and Fox Lake's Bill Mestan, candidates for County Board nominations.

This is the Scotch Lads that were together in 1975, playing at such notable places as the Abbey in Lake Geneva. The band consists of Leafblad, Ray Trusky on drums, Bob Schmidt on keyboards, Jerry Kuta on Bass and John Vitale on Guitar.

Tickets will be available at the door for $10 at The Country House, Rte. 173 in Antioch. Complimentary Ors d'ouvres will be served, and dinner will be available earlier in the dining room.

Attend Seminar, Save Tax Dollars

Answers you receive at a free income tax seminar Wednesday, Feb. 26, could put dollars in your pocket at income tax filing time.

That's the purpose of the program scheduled for 7 p.m. at the auditorium of College of Lake County, Washington St., Grayslake.

Featuring Sallie Goding, an agent of the Internal Revenue Service, the program is being by the IRS in cooperation with Lakeland Newspapers and CLC.

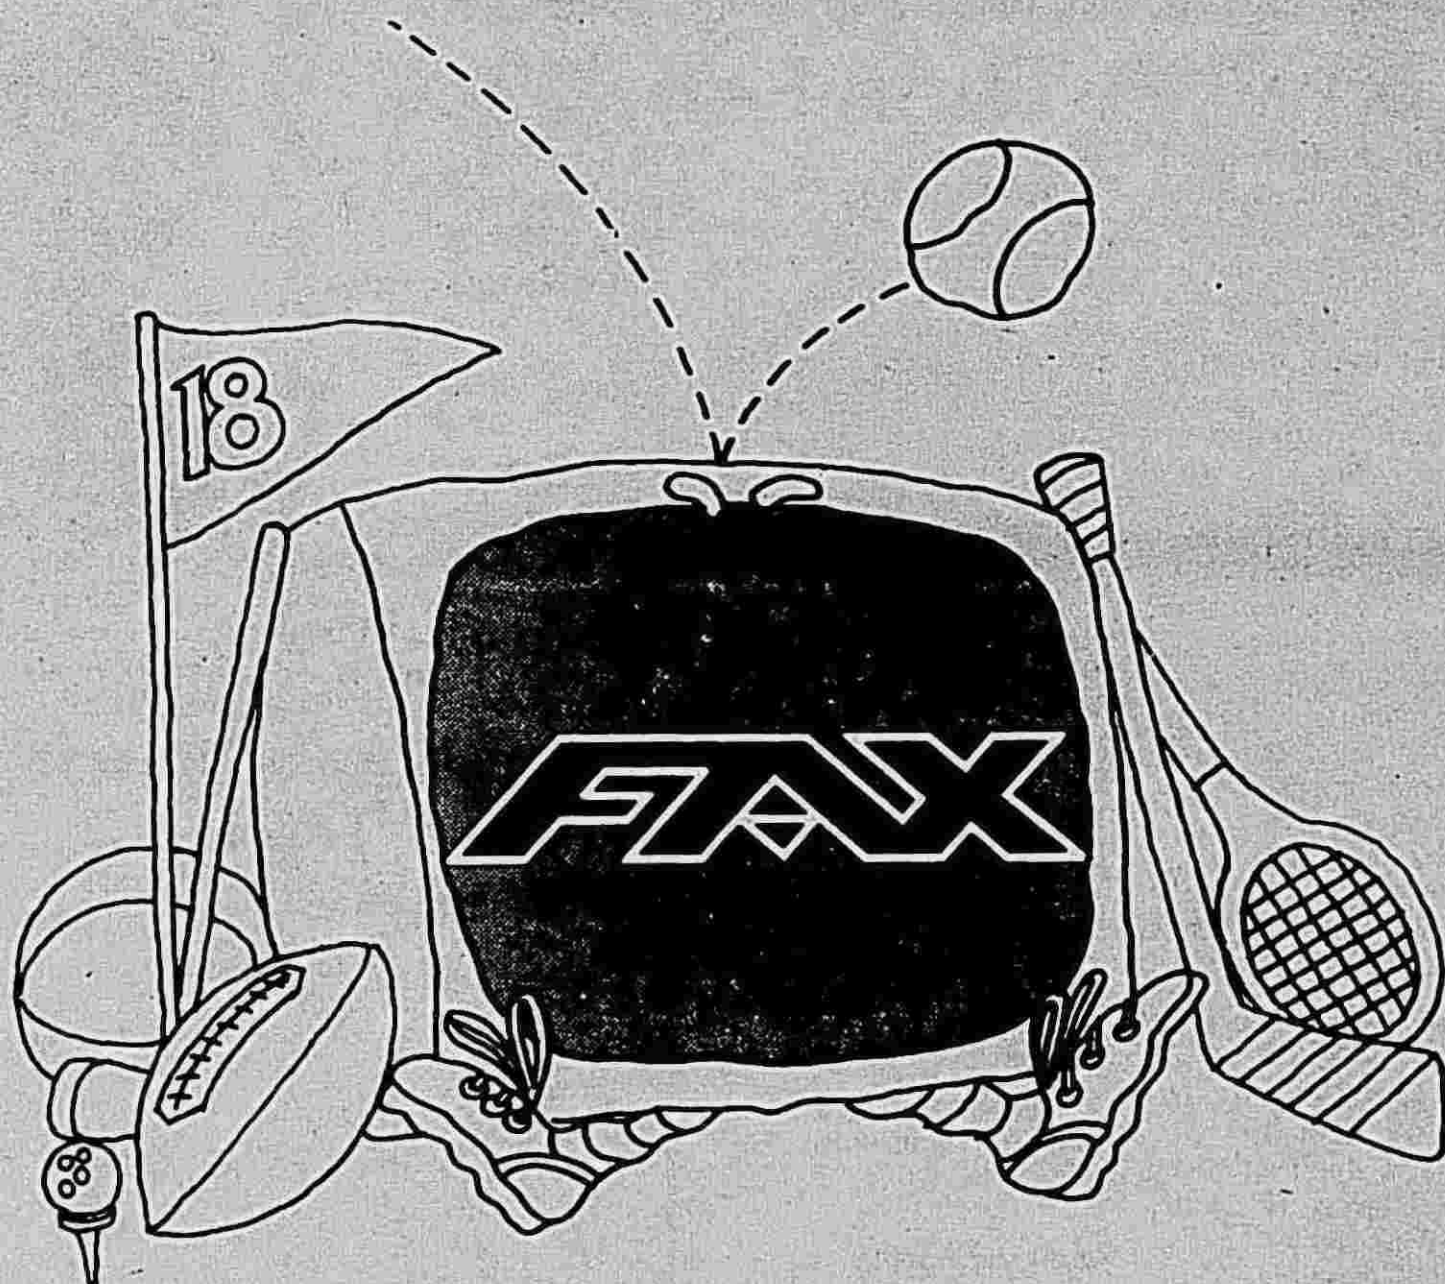

Agent Goding will report on new tax laws and other changes in the income tax filing procedure, and then open the meeting for questions and answers from the audience.

"This is an excellent opportunity to ask individual questions in a give-and-take setting," commented Publisher William H. Schroeder.

There is no admission for the program that is expected to run approximately an hour and a half. Schroeder emphasized that there is ample parking. The auditorium is conveniently located from the main entrance of CLC.

Teens On Their Own Can Mean Trouble

by GLORIA DAVIS

Are teenagers old enough to be left on their own the bulk of the time they are not under classroom supervision?

Like anything else, the answer to that question cannot be a general one but depends on the individual teen.

Many parents look forward to the time that they don't have to get a babysitter for their children when they are working or out on the town.

If you love your teenager, must you automatically trust her or him in order not to negate that love?

Child-care specialists say that the giving of responsibility must be a gradual one that increases as the child proves her or himself capable of being relied on.

Today's teenager lives in a world with more temptations and pressures, and probably has more freedom, than ever before in history.

Although peer-pressure is nothing new, parents who were teenagers in the 1950's and 60's have a hard time understanding the power of today's need to follow the leader.

Again, parents that have striven to give their children a strong moral foundation full of family-gear'd loving, honoring and sharing, have less chance of having serious teen trouble but even this is no guarantee.

The same goes for teens that have been raised with a religious background. Again, you probably won't get your money back.

A deputy director of the juvenile division of the Lake County Dept. of Court Services reports that more of the juveniles that are in trouble that she has handled come from single-parent or blended-parent (second marriages) homes than from homes where both mom and dad are still caring for the children of their first and only marriage.

A director of juvenile intake services for Kenosha County also said that of the high school kids that go through her department, the incidence of delinquency is "slightly higher" in children of divorce, probably reflecting the same statistics as the national divorce rate.

Kenosha County has had a rash of murders committed by youths under 21 in the last two years.

Two 16-year-olds were convicted of the first degree murder of one's foster father. During the trial it was revealed that, though the foster child had been in the victim's care for eight years, social services records showed a deep psychological problem even before he came to the foster parents.

The other teen was from a one-parent home and, according to neighbors, spent little time in that home even to sitting down for a traditionally family-oriented Thanksgiving dinner at a friend's house.

Another teen shot his mother's live-in boyfriend to death and wounded his mother over an argument about a New Year's Eve curfew. Testimony in court that the boyfriend was often known to treat the teen harshly, fell on deaf ears as far as the judge was concerned. The judge stated at the sentencing that harsh treatment was no excuse for murder.

A 20-year-old who was living with his grandmother was convicted of killing the couple who lived next door in a particularly brutal shotgun spree.

His father (whom he did not live with) was mentioned during the trial but there was never any mention of his mother. He was accused, but not convicted, of setting five homes on fire, a short time before the double murder.

Dr. Johnathan Kellerman, author of "Helping the Fearful Child," says that consistency in a babysitter or whoever takes care of child is a must. He failed to find any evidence that children growing up in the care of anyone but their parents suffer any emotional or intellectual damage.

But Dr. Kellerman does add that "maternal deprivation is a major factor in faulty psychological development, affecting every phase of a child's personality and even his physical well-being."

In 1942, a study done at Bellevue Hospital, New York, on hospitalized infants, showed that without fondling and "cuddly play" babies were apathetic. After nurses started to fondle the infants and parents were invited in to give the children physical attention, the babies thrived emotionally.

Many foster children or children that are institutionalized have little feeling of self worth so they sometimes start to lie or do naughty things to establish their identity or get what individual attention, good or bad, they can.

Studies also show that in cases of divorce, many teenage boys suffer from the lack of a constantly present father image, feeling rejected without a male role model present in the home in which he lives.

Eric Oatman, author of "Crime and Society" gives statistics in his book that say that in 1979 one-half of those arrested for committing violent crimes were males between the ages of 14 and 24.

Society's Problem: Part-Time Parents

Oatman disparages national statistics that claim the violent crime rate is dropping, saying that the only reason for the drop is the fact that the number of those in this age category is lessening because of the tapering off of the "babyboom."

Does this answer the question of whether or not parents should keep constant check on their teenagers?

What all these statistics, and all this advice from so called experts, really adds up to is that parents who are really concerned about their children or just about the condition of tomorrow's world which they will be running, need to take a good look at priorities before they set a lifestyle for themselves and their offspring.

In the case of divorce, maybe thoughts of what is best for the children might be uppermost in any decision they make.

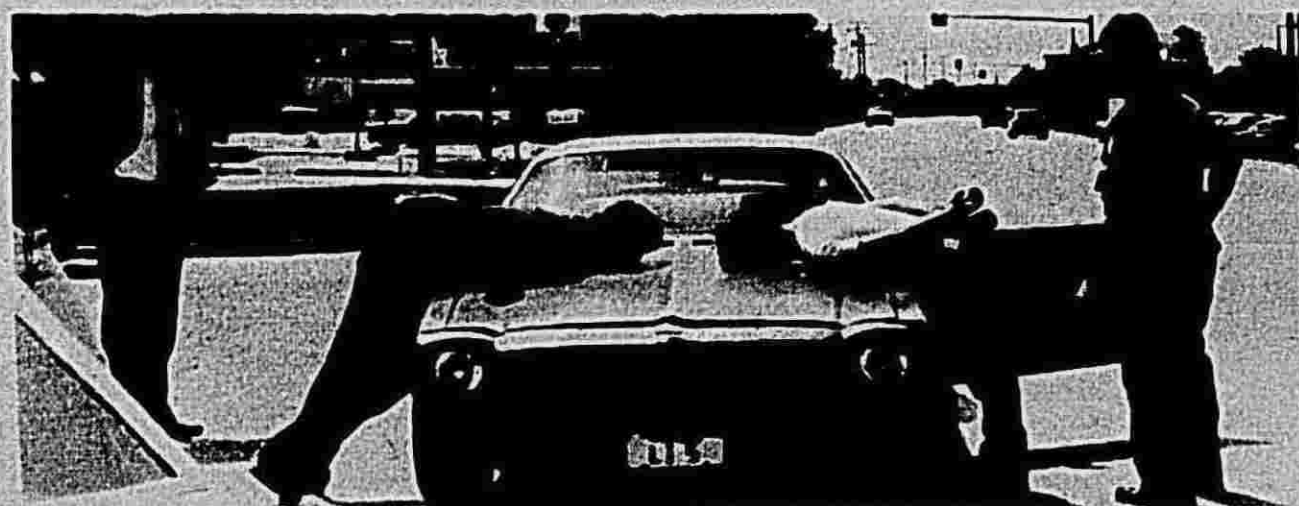

In the case of mother working outside the home, a look into whether or not "necessary" means the acquisition of more un"-necessary material things compared to a child spending at least its formative years (one-five) mostly in mother's care with lots of help from dad.

And if a one-parent or two-working-parents home can't be helped, these parents should make sure that they not only find out how to balance their absences by spending as much "quality time" with their children, but they must implement that information as often as possible. It is understood that these concerned parents would make sure that their children are in good dependable hands while they are gone, keeping supervisory consistency always in mind.

Remember, the United Nations dedicated an entire year to the world's children, naming those same children as the world's most precious possession and the major hope of tomorrow.

Weeds will grow anywhere, a rose must be nurtured, therefore all children, like precious jewels, deserve to be guarded and placed only in the best of homes.

Teens In Trouble

Teens left unchecked to their own devices have a bigger chance of getting into trouble and also have a higher school dropout rate, all of which can have a big effect on their accomplishments as adults. Above is picture of actual drug bust made by the Wauconda Police Dept. and the Illinois State Police in 1985.

Horak Guilty

After a four day trial and a 90 minute deliberation, a jury in U.S. District Court found John Horak, 58, of Spring Grove, guilty on 37 counts of mail fraud and one count of racketeering on Feb. 14.

Horak had testified that he had paid a series of bribes totaling $20,000 from 1981 to 1983 to former Fox Lake Mayor Richard Hamm and former village Trustee Richard Gerretsen. The payoffs were in exchange for a contract for garbage removal with HOD Disposal Inc. of Antioch.

The mail fraud charges centered on checks sent by the village to HOD in payment for garbage removal, while the racketeering charges were based on the bribes.

Horak faces a maximum jail of 185 years and a fine of up to $37,000 on the 37 counts of mail fraud, as well as a term of 20 years plus a fine of up to $25,000 on the one count of racketeering.

HOD Disposal Inc. was purchased by Waste Management from Horak in 1972. In exchange, Horak received 63,424 shares which he now stands to forfeit. The stock currently has a market value of $2.5 million.

Youth Baseball

Minor League Double A are for both boys and girls aged 5-8. Both leagues start the first week in June and play twice a week for six weeks. The T-Ball league, for five and six year olds, plays strictly with a ball hit from a batting T while the Double A League, for seven and eight year olds, uses the T for the first half of the season and pitchers for the second half.

For girls, the next step is the Junior Girls Softball league for ages 9-12. The next level for girls is the Senior Girls for ages 13-15. The main difference between the two leagues is the fact that the Senior Girls play against teams from Fox Lake while the Junior Girls are an "in house league" that plays only teams from their own league.

Nine year old boys advance to the Triple A League where they stay until they make regular Little League. Because players can only make Little League by trying out there is an age overlap between the two leagues. The Triple A League takes boys aged 9-11 while regular Little League takes boys aged 10-12. The Triple A League plays under the same schedule as the Double A League, but Little League plays from the middle of May to July 1. Both leagues play 12 games.

The next level for boys is the Senior Boys League who play 15 games from June 1, until the middle of July.

Each league usually has its own tournament at the end of the season, and both girls leagues along with Boys Little League and the Senior Boys begin playing in tournaments against teams from other towns, usually about the second week in July.

Spelling Bee Winners

Valerie Hansen, (right) an English teacher and spelling bee coordinator at Emmons Grade School stands with two of the winners of the school's Feb. 13 spelling bee. On the left is seventh grader and first place winner, Bernice Valentine, and sixth grader, Jim Deutsch, who took second place. The three are standing under the schools spelling bee plaque where the names of the winners will be engraved.

'Ceramics On Parade' At Fairgrounds

by ARDEEN HARRIS
395-2671

Attention all you ceramic lovers in the area. All is not lost with the closing of Town and Country. There will be a Ceramic Show at the Lake County Fairgrounds this year! The 17th annual Hobby Ceramic Show "Ceramics on Parade" will take place on Feb. 28, March 1, and March 2 and will be held at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake. The show hours are 12-6 p.m. on Feb. 21, 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Feb. 22 and 23. Admission will be $1.75 at the door and children under 12 will be admitted free of charge. Lunch will be available along with unlimited free parking. There will be competition, demonstrations and selling exhibits. Three out of town judges will be available to judge the open competition for both professionals and hobbyists. The cost to enter your ceramic pieces will be: Students under 12 and Senior Citizens-50 cents per piece and adults will be charged $1 per entry.

If you are going to compete in the open judging, you must bring your pieces to the Fairgrounds Main Building between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Feb. 27. The judging will be held on Feb. 21 before the show opens. There will also be hourly door prizes and a grand door prize on Feb. 23. The Grand door prize will be a $100 shopping spree at your nearest distributor and will take place at 4 p.m. (winner need not be present).

Everyone can thank Cathy Donahue for putting this show together with the help of Bill Ryan. Cathy is the former manager and show chairman for Town and Country. If you have any additional questions, please give her a call at 223-8755.

The following is a list of partial exhibitors: Nickelodeon, Downstairs Ceramic Studio, Greenwood Ceramics, Mahoning Ceramic Supply, Zavori Mold, The Kiln, Red Barn, Olympic Ceramic Supply, White Buffalo Ceramics, Lamar, Ceramaco, Ceramic Emporium, Kentucky Mold, Smith Screening, B & D Mold, Ex-cel Slip, Busy B, Bien Venue, B & J, Lea's Ceramics Vir-Ma, Greenware Village, Joliet Ceramics, Doc Holiday, True-Brite, Chicago Metro, Four Seasons Ceramic Supply, Marie's Ceramics, Little Al's Ceramic Supply and Nancy's Colours.

Congratulation to Shelley Brausam who is in the seventh grade at Grass Lake School. Her name was inadvertently omitted from the Honor Roll in last week's column.

On Feb. 23, Pack 80 will have their Blue and Gold Dinner at Grass Lake School from 12-5 p.m.

The Antioch Helping Hands is looking for people in the area to help with their program. The main objective of the program is to have someone in the area with a special poster in their window, which children will know as a safe retreat in case of an emergency situation. The helping hand parent will be checked by the Antioch Police Department and should be a person who is generally at home and available to assist students in emergency situations. If you are interested in getting involved with this program, contact the Grass Lake School office for an application. For those of you outside the Grass Lake Area, you may contact the Antioch Police department for an application.

At the special Grass Lake PTO Farewell reception for Hogan on Feb. 16 a plaque of appreciation was presented to him by President, John Clauson. Coffee and cake was provided by the PTO. Hogan sent his final message to the students, parents and teachers of District 36 via the Grass Lake School Newsletter.

The following message is: "I hereon wish to thank: 1) The parents of District 36 for entrusting your most valued possession-your child-to our care. It is an awesome responsibility for us at the school when you place his/her future in our hands. 2) The Board of Education, past and present, for the many hours of service, without remuneration, in order to provide quality educational opportunities at the Grass Lake School. 3) The PTO for thousands of hours of work over the years. All of the improvements you have helped finance are important-but most important is the example you provide your youngsters via your interest in working on behalf of your school. 4) The students for your cooperation, enthusiasm and attitude making us proud of you as you continue your education at Antioch High School. 5) Finally, the most important cog in the wheel of success-the dedicated staff at Grass Lake School."

On Feb. 3, Mr. Arthur Smejkal, acting superintendent, began his administrative duties at Grass Lake School. Mr Smejkal will be with District 36 for the remainder of this school term. Please feel free to contact him if you have any questions.

A very special birthday wish to an avid reader of the Grass Lake News, Bill Hiller. Bill will be celebrating his day on Feb. 20, I want Bill to remain a happy reader of the Grass Lake News, so his age will not be mentioned even though his wife wanted it in print for all to know. It'll be our secret.

Honor Poulter At St. Norbert

Scott Poulter, a senior at St. Norbert College in DePere, Wis. has been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester. He is also one of twenty-four seniors inducted into the Who's Who Among Students In American Universities And Colleges. Membership is based on students' grade point average, extra-curricular activities and hometown contributions. Scott has also been selected as a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma, Alpha Gamma Chapter, a National

Painting Selected

Tim Curtis of Lake Villa is among undergraduate students at Art Institute, Chicago, whose painting was chosen by graduate students for display in the Painters Pick Painters show on display through Feb. 15. He is a 1983 graduate of Antioch High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Curtis.

Gagnon Studies

Scholastic Honor Society. Scholastic record is the primary qualification, along with involvement in enhancing the cultural and intellectual climate of the college and the degree of participation in co-curricular activities.

He is currently serving as president of the independent fraternity, Admar, and as vice president of Phi Beta Lambda, a national business fraternity.

Scott is an accounting major, and upon graduation in May, he will be joining the Big Eight accounting firm of Touche Ross in Chicago.

Indus M. Gagnon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gagnon, and a freshman at Elmhurst College, participated in a tour of New York City during January. Gagnon is a music business major, and the tour was to help her study one of the top centers of the music industry.

Sponsored by the College's music business program, the month-long course included on-campus lectures, followed by two weeks of visiting TV sound stages, recording studios, music publishers and licensors, plus attendance at Broadway shows, concert and clubs. Tim Hayes, director of the music business program, conducted the tour.

The January Interim at Elmhurst is a short term during the month of January, during which students take only one course and are encouraged to experiment with study or travel in new areas of interest which may be outside their majors.

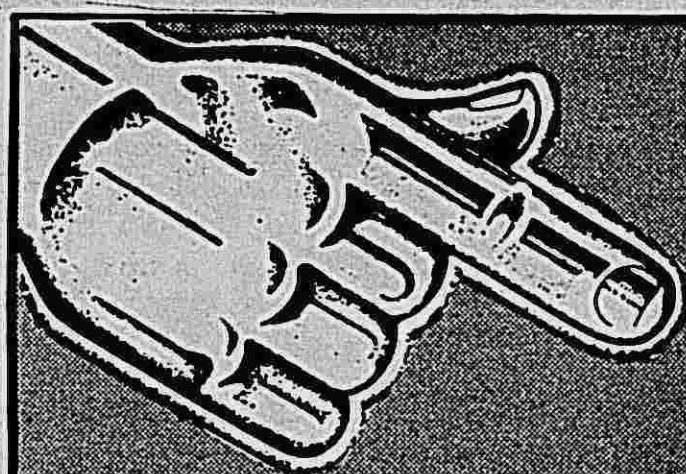

Makes List

Culver-Stockton College has named President's List, Dean's List and Honor Roll students for the fall 1985 semester.

Honor Roll students achieve from 3.20 to 3.499 grade point average on the 4.000 scale, minimum of 12 hours and no grade below C. Area Honor Roll students include: Theodore C. Jennings, a freshman majoring in English. Jennings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Thomas Jennings of 1014 Spafford, Antioch.

Culver-Stockton College has been offering quality education to both men and women since its founding 133 years ago

Girl Scouts Celebrate Expo At Lakehurst Mall

Girl Scouts from throughout Illinois Prairie's 53 communities will gather on Feb. 22 for the 1986 Expo, "We Are The World."

The Expo at Lakehurst Mall, Waukegan, begins at 10 a.m. with a cheerleading competition. The contest features all age levels from Daisy Girl Scouts (five years old) through the Cadette level (ages 12-14). Each participating troop has written and choreographed its own original cheer to celebrate the kick-off of the 1986 Girl Scout Cookie Sale. Contest judges include the cheerleading squad from North Chicago High School, two past contest winners, newspaper columnists from the Daily Herald and Lakeland papers, and Honeybear, Maureen Malloy.

Over 70 troops have planned activities, demonstrations and displays to share the unique nature of Girl Scouting with the public. With an emphasis on world friendship, conservation of resources, learning, fun and leadership, the Expo celebrates Girl Scout "Thinking Day," linking Girl Scouts U.S.A. and Girl Guides in 108 Countries abroad.

Troops participating in Expo from the Lakeland area are:

Venita's Party Stand Earning Accolades

Wauconda Village Clerk Venita L. McConnell has picked up a valuable endorsement from a prominent Dist. 4 GOP leader in her campaign for the Republican nomination for Lake County Clerk in the March 18 primary election.

Bill Georgeson, the past chairman of the Antioch GOP precinct committee, has expressed his support for McConnell's candidacy.

Georgeson asserted, "I have known Venita throughout the years because of our joint commitment as Republican precinct committeemen. She has always been a positive individual for the Republican party. She is known as a strong, motivating worker within the party ranks. Venita McConnell accomplishes what she sets out to do."

The Antioch precinct committeeman concluded, "Venita would do an excellent job as county clerk. She would understand the office, understand the people working in that office and be able to serve all the people within the county in a fair and equal manner. Lake County needs Venita L. McConnell for county clerk. She can do the job for all of us."

McConnell and Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Donna Mae Litwiler of Ingleside are competing for the GOP nomination for Lake County clerk in this spring's primary. Dist. 4 includes Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twp. in western Lake County. The Georgeson endorsement represents another McConnell beachhead in Litwiler's home territory.

On Jan. 13, Avon Twp. committeemen conducted a secret endorsement vote on the county clerk's race. Reportedly, the Avon committeemen registered 11 ballots for McConnell and only four for Litwiler. The results harmed Litwiler's candidacy, because Avon is the most populous township in Dist. 4.

Lake Villa Twp. Supervisor Dorothy Thompson has also issued a strong endorsement for McConnell. Last April, Thompson ousted incumbent Fred Popp from office.

League Of Women Voters To Host Forums

League of Women Voters will host two candidate forums the first week in March. The following candidates for the Republican Primary in Dist. 6 have been invited to participate Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Mundelein High School Auditorium: Bruce Hansen, 450 N. Old Rand Rd., Lake Zurich; Glenn E. Miller, RFD Box 3216 Hwy 53, Long Grove; John P. Reindl, 22846 W. Hwy 176, Mundelein; Patrick R. Wilson, 203 W. Crystal St. Mundelein. The moderator will be Sara Clark.

The following candidates for Dist. 5 Republican primary for County Board members have been invited to participate Wednesday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Studio Theatre at Libertyville High School: F. T. "Mike" Graham, 345 Cleveland Ave., Libertyville; Robert W. Depke, 34880 N. Oak Knoll Cir., Gurnee; Carol Calabrese, 821 Arthur Ave., Libertyville; Jerome J. Brunette, 911 Cambridge Dr., Libertyville; Eugene E. "Gene" Martin, 200 Red Top Dr., Libertyville. The moderator will be Mary Lou Aagaard.

For further information, please call Monica Radtke, (312) 949-5497, or Linda Breaux-Mahoney, (312) 949-0629.

Board Appoints Four

The Lake County Board of Health has appointed four new members to the Advisory Board and Coordinating Council for Mental Health, Substance Abuse and Developmental Disabilities Services (AB/C Council). All are professionals in the fields of human services and mental health.

The four appointments are: Elizabeth Jan Edgar, director of Planning and Allocations, United Way of Lake County. Edgar has 15 years experience in the human services field, with emphasis in mental health. She has a masters of science degree in rehabilitation administration and services and is a certified rehabilitation counselor.

Constance N. Garry, of Ingleside, clinical coordinator, interventions/Contact, Waukegan, which provides residential substance abuse treatment to adolescents. She holds a masters degree in rehabilitation counseling and is a member of the Illinois Alcohol and Drug Dependency Assn. and the National Assn. of Alcohol/Drug Abuse Counselors and other professional societies.

John G. Merwin, of Kenosha, associate director of the Northern Illinois Council of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse. He is the former Director of Bridge House, a residential treatment program for recovering alcoholics. Merwin is a clinically certified substance abuse counselor. He is a member of the Illinois Substance Abuse Counselor Certification Board and the Institute for Reality Therapy.

Scott V. Summers, of Waukegan, Resource Division supervisor, Lake County Dept. of Court Services. He has also served as juvenile services officer. Summers holds a bachelors degree in advertising and business administration and is active in several professional and community organizations.

The AB/C Council serves in an advisory capacity to the Lake County Board of Health and is responsible for coordination and planning for mental health, substance abuse, and development disabilities in Lake County.

Individuals interested or further information regarding the council or membership, are encouraged to call Council Coordinator Ginny Fagen at (312) 689-6704.

Navy League Plans March 1 Dinner/Dance

The Lake County Council of the Navy League of the United States will sponsor its seventeenth annual benefit dinner/dance at Holy Family School, 1836 Lincoln Ave., North Chicago, on Saturday, March 1, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Featured will be a homemade Italian-style mostaccioli dinner, plus dancing to the music of Jim Sanford's "Top Hatters."

Tickets are $7.50 per person. Proceeds benefit the Navy League's youth programs, including the Sea Cadet Division for youth 14 to 18 and the League Cadet Unit for 11 to 13 year-old boys and girls.

For tickets or further information, contact John Cullinan, (312) 356-2673 or Elda Vignocchi, (312) 234-1963.

H.O.W. To Host Forum

On Feb. 27, the Homeowners Organization of Wildwood will host a forum featuring those candidates seeking to represent Dist. 5 of the Lake County Board. Invitations were sent to Jerome Brunette, Carol Calabrese, Robert Depke, F.T. (Mike) Graham and Eugene Martin. With the exception of the incumbent, Robert Depke, all candidates have responded and will participate.

Each candidate will have the opportunity to give a five minute presentation and additional time to respond to questions from the audience. All voters are urged to attend in order to meet and "size up" the candidates.

Meetings are held at the Warren Twp. Center on Washington St. at 7:30 p.m. on the fourth Thursday of each month. Coffee and refreshments will be served.

Pols Are Poles Apart

Ever the dutiful party member, U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon couldn't resist extolling the virtues of the Democratic state ticket assembled for the November general election. "We're going to win," Dixon exclaimed confidently during a short visit the other day at the Lakeland Newspapers' editorial offices.

And we couldn't resist tweaking the redoubtable Dixon about the fact that he and one of his stalwart teammates, Adlai Stevenson, at one time stood at opposite poles on the need and value of Ft. Sheridan. When it was learned last year that Ft. Sheridan was on a Dept. of Defense "hit list," Sen. Dixon fought like his political life was at stake (at lot of people thought that it was) to save the venerable Lake County military establishment and all the jobs that go with it. Some years back when Ft. Sheridan found itself on another hit list under another administration, then U.S. Sen. Stevenson publicly supported a plan to turn the army post into a park and site for low income housing.

No doubt Stevenson will choose not to get involved in military questions this time around. There's a good chance, as politicians are wont to do, that he's forgotten about his plans for a new look at Ft. Sheridan.

Open Line

Opening up the governmental process at any level is a laudable goal. Members of the Lake Villa town board are going to new and innovative ends to make sure citizens have access to the governing process.

The fourth Tuesday of every month for one hour in the evening they will be manning phones in the township center to talk to citizens who wish to call with questions or comments. It's sort of an "open line" policy that should pay dividends in better relations if town trustees can take an occasional burning sensation in their ears.

We like the idea. It will be interesting to see how the "people to people" project works out.

No Chances

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce was taking no chances in scheduling program headliners for its annual Spring Legislative Conference to be held in Springfield, April 1 and 2. The Chamber scheduled both candidates for governor, incumbent Gov. James R. Thompson and the Democratic challenger, former U.S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson. Being an election year, the state's biggest business organization opted for equal time. Gov. Thompson has been doing his level best to put the lie to the old belief that Republicans always are in the hip pocket of business. Do you suppose Stevenson might be thinking about turning the tables in this rare confrontation?

Letters To The Editor

Not Qualified

Editor:

What is a nice young man like Pat Anderson doing in a race like this?

Brought up, fed and nourished by Mr. Geary to be of service to this community, given every opportunity to do so, even a job as township road commissioner at $27,000 per year, a very bright future indeed, especially for a man of little qualification for anything else.

It must have been one heck of a reward that was promised to Mr. Anderson. If this should prove not to be the case, and I could be wrong, then it would seem that anyone dumb enough to give all this up should not hold public office.

Don't Condemn All

Editor:

I think Chuck Paulson of Antioch should retract his statement about almost everything in Grant Twp. being trash. I have known a lot of Grant Twp. officials and find there are a lot of fine people there. I ran a gas station in Fox Lake for about 15 years, and never met finer people, including officials. I cannot see him calling Grant Twp. the "political garbage can of Lake County." I have to admit there were a few yo yos, but why condemn all politicians?

Can't Do Job

Editor:

I cannot believe a $27,000-a-year road commissioner, who has been in office less than one year, now seeks an $18,000 a year job.

How could our committeemen endorse Pat Anderson over the other candidates? He cannot even do his job as road commissioner. Just try to call and see if you get him, or his answering machine. And check some of our township roads.

Foes Won't Bother Confident Dixon

(Editor's note: Lakeland Newspapers editorial personnel interviewed U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon on his reelection prospects. Publisher William H. Schroeder and News Editors Mike Pramshafer and Sue Montgomery cooperated in preparation of the following article).

After 28 consecutive election victories, making him the most successful politician in Illinois history, U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon isn't about to let himself get ambushed by a couple of Republican unknowns.

"I know that they're going to beat on me and cut me up," remarked the state's senior U.S. senator during a stop at Lakeland Newspapers' editorial offices, in reply to a question about what kind of opposition he expects to face in his bid for a second term in Washington.

The highly successful Democrat, who has spent all his adult life in public office, candidly declared that he doesn't expect a serious challenge from either of two unknown GOP aspirants for an assignment no name Republican wanted--running against Dixon.

"The Republican National Committee wanted Don Rumsfeld. He turned them down. He's my friend. They wanted Phil Crane. He's my golfing partner. They tried Tom Corcoran and he backed out after seeing what a mess there was," Dixon remarked, breaking into a broad grin.

This is vintage Dixon--beat the opposition before they even enter the blocks. Clearly in his one hour visit with Lakeland's editors, Dixon showed that he is prepared to run harder--and talk more--than he ever has in his life to keep his job.

Dixon stiffened only once, when he was asked about charges from one of his opponents, businessman George Ranney, that he has a spotty attendance record and is inattentive to his duties.

Commentary

"That's a joke, a real joke. Ask anyone about Alan Dixon. He's got the best attendance record in the U.S. Senate in Illinois history. On the floor and in committee. I defy anyone to challenge my record."

"I have a 96 percent attendance record. Nobody else in the Senate can say that," he added.

Clearly, the usually unflappable Dixon can be reached--sometimes. Before dismissing the attendance question as "silly business," he mentioned that the Republican opposition probably is banking on the strategy of an unknown Kentucky Republican who knocked out a popular Democrat with the tactic of following around a hunting dog who was looking for his opponent.

Dixon laughed, "I'm going to get my own dog, a bigger dog."

Before turning to other questions, the dapper senator who was wearing a three-piece brown suit, pointed out that he spent "literally hundreds of hours meeting on the controversial farm bill" that finally was adopted by Congress.

Never far from political realities, Dixon injected:

"No, we're going to win. We've got an outstanding ticket." He stressed that the

Tavernowners Guaranteeing Safe Rides

By BILL SCHROEDER

There's little doubt that the new Illinois DUI law and increased police surveillance of intoxicated drivers is having positive results. And one of the surest signs that the public is responding is that business is off local taverns.

There is less drinking. Tavern owners attribute the drop, some reports being as high as 50 percent, due to the public's fear of being arrested for DUI.

Holders of liquor licenses are adapting in various ways. Wally Herman of Gages Lake, co-owner of a limousine service, says he has been contacted by a group of central Lake County tavern operators who are interested in guaranteeing a safe ride home for patrons who might become DUI victims.

Herman said he will provide the ride home for a $10 fee which will be paid by the tavernowner if the patron goes directly home. For the person who insists on continuing reveling, an individual charge will be levied.

WORTHWHILE--Charles "Chuck" Isely, president of the Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce, is predicting that his trip to the Orient with the Governor's Trade Mission is going to produce results for new business and more jobs for Lake County. Japanese business leaders meeting with the Illinois citizens were surprised to learn that there is a lot of geography north of Chicago before getting to the stateline.

"I told them that Chicago is a suburb of Lake County," Isely laughed.

GRUDGE MATCH--Even though it's conceivable that both could emerge victors in the March 18 primary, Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Norman Geary and Pat Anderson, Avon Township road commissioner, are going at each other like a pair of wild cats--no holds barred.

Geary and Anderson are among six candidates seeking two Republican nominations from the district that includes Antioch, Grant, Avon and Lake Villa townships. Both are residents of Grayslake.

Anderson declared that Geary is "morally corrupt. Norm always is right and the whole world is wrong. His arm-twisting style in politics stinks." He accused Geary, who is supervisor of Avon Township, of deliberately misinforming him about the budget process for the road commissioner's office so that Geary could discredit him in front of the town board.

The veteran political leader scoffed at Anderson's charges. "Pat is young and naive. He just doesn't know what he's talking about. If he can't handle the road commissioner's budget I hate to think how he'll handle county finances," Geary commented. The supervisor added that Anderson overspent his first year in office budget $10,000. Geary also charged, "Anderson isn't working at his job. He's spending all his time campaigning."

STILL WRITING--Lakeland's self-styled starving poet, Sam Raysby, has completed a 100 page booklet of his recent work entitled, "Rare Recognition." Still unemployed, the ex-machinist ranges over a wide variety of subjects, including love and politics.

Basically self-taught, the multi-talented Round Lake Beach resident now is getting into songwriting which offers a brighter future than poetry. Now recovered from a health problem, Sam is dedicated to pushing on in the creative field. He also is an excellent photographer and has illustrated some of his poems with original photographs.

Preservation Educates Public About Timber Wolf

by CHARLENE WHITNEY

A letter came to me from Amy Martinovich of Libertyville. She is a lover of animals and a member of the Timber Wolf Preservation Society, Inc. in Greendale, Wis. This is about a one hour drive from Libertyville.

Here is a wonderful world open to the public for those who wish to see the wolves and learn about them. The Timber Wolf Preservation encourages groups and individuals to visit the farm for a first hand experience of nature's magnificent creatures. They are open weekends and holidays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is a $1 admission charge. Special arrangements can be made for schools and groups by calling (414) 425-6107 or (414)

425-8264, should you wish to visit on a weekday. The address is 6669 S. 76th St.

New members are always welcome. The society receives no government support or tax money. The income comes from public donations, which are tax deductible.

The purpose of the society is to educate the public about the wolf. He is fast becoming an endangered species. Far too many people believe the old myths about the big bad wolf.

There are about 30 wild wolves left in the state of Wisconsin. They need to be saved and placed back into the wild.

The wolf is no more a threat, than the rabbit hopping across the yard. Stories have been made up about these animals throughout the years. There is no record of a human ever having been attacked by a non-rabid, wild wolf. They would rather stay away from humans.

The North American Indians worshipped the wolf for his hunting ability and attitudes by emulating his stealth, endurance, power, sagacity, adaptability and his social relationship.

The wolf is one of a few species that take a mate for life. They are devoted parents. The female has a litter of two to 10 pups a year. Only one or two pups from each litter survive the first year. They live 12 to 13 years in the wild and about 20 in the zoo.

At the Timber Wolf Preservation you can learn the history of the grey wolf on the North American continient and his role as king of predators.

Jim Rieder started raising wolves in 1967. From his first pair of wild wolves came six generations. He now has 19 wolves and has spent almost a million dollars of his own to get this project underway.

The only chance the wolf has for survival is if people are educated. Your own house dog is a descendant of the wolf.

If you see Rieder with the wolves, you'll sense the affection, loyalty and respect that exists between him and the animals.

I was touched to read about the "adopt a wolf" program they are promoting. Seventy-one persons, from 10 states and Canada, have become foster parents.

The oldest resident wolf started her 13th year last April.

There was also a "name the wolf" contest in progress. There had been 69 entries.

The three new blood-line wolf cubs were one male and two females, named Nantan, Tokata and Radolphus. The cubs are bottle-fed by TWPS members until they are 37 days old.

Try to find time to take your family to the Timber Wolf Preservation Society, Inc. As Amy Martinovich advises, it would be a great way to spend an afternoon, enjoying the animals and nature. I know my family is looking forward to a visit there.

Supermarkets Offer Perks For Early-Week Shoppers

I most always take advantage of the weekend shopping specials that begin Thursday or Friday. I do not shop on Saturday because it seems that's when everyone else does.

I know a working mother of three who shops daily. "They eat everything by the time I get home from work," she laments, "so I have to go to the store every morning."

The supermarkets are sweetening the specials pot on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Sometimes, I can't resist.

How can one pass up hamburger and beef roasts selling for under $1 a pound? Sodas for 99 cents an eight pack? Giant size ketchup for 89 cents? A case of beer for $4.99? Double coupons?

I don't.

I've also found the stores less crowded at mid-week. I guess that's why the grocery executives have decided to attract more customers with those specials.

Sometimes, produce is a better bargain, too. With a godson staying with us who lives on potatoes, ketchup and hamburgers when he's not eating pizza, it's a money-saver.

French fries and home fries are his favorites, but I've managed to tempt his aste buds with variations—so I don't mind shopping occasionally at mid-week.

Victory Sponsors Exercise Class

Pregnancy and childbirth are experiences filled with joy and feelings of accomplishment, self esteem and pride.

Regular prenatal care, good nutrition, adequate rest and avoidance of tobacco, alcohol and unnecessary drugs are all part of a healthy lifestyle during pregnancy. In addition, women today want to be physically active. They want to participate and prepare for the physical needs of caring, giving birth and nurturing the child.

With this in mind, Victory Health Outreach Center and Feelin' Fit have established a prenatal exercise class based on the guidelines set by the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, beginning by the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, beginning Feb. 24, at 7 p.m., at Victory Health Outreach Center, 121 East Grand Ave., Lake Villa. These classes will be held Monday and Thursday evenings for seven weeks. The charge is $40.

Kathy Stewart is a certified prenatal exercise instructor, affiliated with Feelin' Fit. Stewart has also been working with Victory Health Outreach Center as an instructor for first aid school programs, Moms and Tots and Building Blocks.

Heart Assn. Simplifies Food Label Terminology

Consumers today can become overwhelmed with food labeling terminology like saturated, unsaturated, polyunsaturated, and monounsaturated. Claims made by food manufacturers can be confusing, and in some cases misleading.

The American Heart Assn. (AHA) recommends a diet low in cholesterol (a waxy substance that can build-up in the walls of the arteries) and low in saturated fats. Saturated fats tend to raise the level of cholesterol in the blood. They are found in most animal products, and in some vegetable products. Coconut oil, cocoa butter and palm oil (used in prepared cookies, pie fillings, and most non-dairy milk and cream substitutes) are examples of vegetable products high in saturated fats. Butter, cream, whole milk, and cheeses made from cream or whole milk also contain saturated fats.

A chemical process called hydrogenation can be used to change liquid fats to solids. This is the process used to harden some liquid vegetable oil margarines and vegetable shortenings. Hydrogenated fats should be avoided or used in moderation. Many liquid vegetable margarines contain partially hydrogenated oils and liquid oils. When selecting a margarine, choose one that lists the first ingredient on the label as a "liquid vegetable oil," and refers to the term "partially hydrogenated" in the second or third ingredient. A margarine that lists its first ingredient as a "hydrogenated oil" should be avoided.

Polyunsaturated fats tend to lower the level of cholesterol in the body. Polyunsaturated fats are usually liquid vegetable oils. Oils such as corn, cottonseed, safflower, sesame seed, soybean and sunflower seed are high in polyunsaturated fats. The AHA recommends that these type of fats be included in the diet as a substitute for some of the saturated ones.

Olive oil and peanut oil are also vegetable oils, but they contain primary monounsaturated fatty acids. These products are examples of oils termed monounsaturated fatty acids. These products are examples of oils termed monounsaturated fats. They can be used in food preparation for occasional flavoring. They also tend to lower blood cholesterol, but not to the same extent as polyunsaturated fatty oils.

The American Heart Assn's. dietary guidelines suggest that only 30 percent of the daily caloric intake come from fats. At least 10 percent of that fat should be from polyunsaturated sources, and no more than 10 percent from saturated fats. Understanding the terminology on food labels can help you better determine what foods you serve on your dinner table.

Dee-Dugenske

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Dee, Woodridge, Ill., announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, Champaign, Ill., to Andrew Dugenske, Atlanta, Ga., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dugenske of Antioch.

The ceremony will be performed at St. Peters Catholic Church, Antioch, on Aug. 2.

The bride-to-be is a 1982 graduate of Downers Grove South High School and attends the University of Illinois, Champaign, where she will receive a bachelor of science degree in business administration. She is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority at the university.

The groom-to-be is a 1981 graduate of Antioch Community High School and a 1985 graduate of the University of Illinois, Champaign and has a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He is employed as an engineer for Colonial Pipeline Company, Atlanta, Ga.

Gonnella Love Affair Began 100 Years Ago

For food connoisseurs in this locality, the name Gonnella conjures up visions of freshly baked, aromatic bread with crisp crusts and made from the finest ingredients. This is not the stuff of spongy white bread; it's the hearty fare our ancestors used to bake.

The Gonnella Baking Company prides itself on just that: the bread that comes out of its ovens today is the same top quality product that Alessandro Gonnella produced in his small, wood-burning oven when he founded the company a century ago.

There is no secret to the unique Gonnella baking process. A high protein spring wheat flour from the Northwest is used, milled to the company's specifications. The dough is mixed in 600-pound batches and then separated by a special machine into individual loaves, which are placed into a proof box to rise. Finally, the loaves are loaded into open hearth tunnel ovens and baked for approximately 35 minutes. No pans are used, which assures no interference with contact between bread and "hearth." The crisp crusts, a Gonnella trademark, are created by the carefully regulated addition of high pressure steam during the first two minutes of the baking process. A conveyor belt moves the bread through the oven until baking is completed.

Today's Gonnella Baking Company, which turns out 750,000 loaves weekly from a total of six huge ovens in three plants, is much more extensive and sophisticated than the original operation, which processed a few hundred loaves weekly in a basement shop on Chicago's De Koven Street.

The year was 1886, and Alessandro had just purchased the small De Koven Street bakery, where he had been an assistant. As owner, Alessandro ran a 24-hour per day operation single-handedly. He mixed, baked, delivered the loaves via pushcart, and kept the books. But Alessandro, a recently arrived Italian emigrant, was selling statuary from Buffalo to Canada as an indentured laborer to the man who had paid his steerage fare. When his three-year contract was completed, he headed for Chicago, determined to make his own way in a city where he had heard opportunities abounded.

And succeed he did. Ten years later, Alessandro moved his Gonnella bakery to a larger building on Sangamon Street. By then he had brought a wife, Marianna Marcucci, back from his Northern Italian hometown of Barga. In the early 1900s, his teen-aged brothers-in-law, Lawrence, Nicholas and Luigi Marcucci, joined him in the United States to assist with the business.

In 1915, the Erie Street plant and headquarters were built and, several years later, Gonnella Baking Company was incorporated. By then, the drivers for the company's horse-and-wagon delivery vehicles were each making up to 200 stops per day. Other plants were purchased, and, by the end of World War II, the higher volume sales to groceries and restaurants had supplanted home deliveries.

The family continued to grow, with children learning the business early on, from sweeping floors to delivering bread. Many went to work for the company full time after completing school.

Today, Louis Marcucci, Alessandro's nephew, is company president; Roy Marcucci, vice-president; George Marcucci, treasurer; and Robert Gonnella, secretary. A total of 35 family members still work for the company.

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs.
Dennis Kedzorski
Johnson/Kedzorski

Penny Johnson, daughter of Kevin and Marian Johnson, Barrington, and Dennis Kedzorski, Mundelein, son of Robert and Jeanne Kedzorski, Ingleside, were joined in marriage at 3 p.m. on Nov. 23, by Father Arthur Dillan at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Barrington.

The bride was given away by her father at the double ring service.

She wore a satin gown with reembroidered Alencon lace which featured a sweetheart neckline and fitted sleeves, slightly puffed at the shoulder. A Cathedral train and Basque waistline were also featured.

Kris (James) Heckman, Germany, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Maj (John) Kowalski and Tammy Otterson, both sisters of the bride, Debbie and Lynn Gaiser, friends from Florida, and Cathy Prpich, friend.

Flower girls were Jenny Otterson, niece of the bride and Sara Hansen, goddaughter of the groom.

Best man was Geoff Akins. Groomsman were K.O. Johnson and Sean Johnson, brothers of the bride, Joe and Jim Kedzorski, brothers of the groom and Ron Kedzinski, uncle of the groom.

Ring bearer was Kevin Kowalski, nephew of the bride.

Ushers were Andy Borzich and Pat Rice, friends of the couple.

A reception followed the ceremony at Hong Chow Restaurant in Island Lake.

Following a honeymoon trip to Las Vegas, Nev. the couple will reside in Mundelein.

The bride is a graduate of Warren Twp. High School and is employed by Jewel Food Store in Lake Zurich and Linens Plus at Lakehurst.

The groom is a graduate of Grant Community High School and is employed by Barker Metal Craft in Chicago.

Class Set For Feb. 24

The free Grandparents Class being introduced by Condell Memorial Hospital will hold its first session at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 24, at the hospital in Libertyville.

During the class, grandparents will learn how and why many things have changed from the days when they were having babies. Grandparents will learn about the new modes of birth, including such family participation classes as Lamaze and Gamper.

Grandparents will also learn the benefits of diapering with either cloth or disposable diapers and review the general care of the new baby. The problem of giving advice to new parents will also be discussed.

To register for the Grandparents Class, contact the public relations/marketing department at (312) 362-2900, ext. 5275. There is no fee for the class.

Blood Drive

On Thursday, Feb. 27, from 2 to 7 p.m., American International Hospital will hold a blood drive at the North Point Medical Arts Building, 1911 27th St., Zion. Teams Ready For B-Ball Regionals

by STEVE PETERSON

It's that time of year again.

"March Madness" will be dominating Lakeland area high school basketball teams as they vie for that elusive post-season success.

Regional games begin Feb. 24 at four high schools. Winners of first round or semi-final round games vie for sectional berths Feb. 28.

Here's a look at what to expect from the various regional tournaments:

At Round Lake: Northwest Suburban Conference teams

Round Lake, Grant and Grayslake are joined by North Suburban Conference entry Antioch.

The host Panthers, the tournament's top seed and favorite, square off against Grayslake in the first game while Antioch and Grant do battle in game two Feb. 25.

"We've been approaching each game for the last week and one-half as if it was the state tournament," Antioch coach Tom Zeeman said. "In the state tournament, if you lose, you are out so it's easy to get the kids fired up."

The Sequoits are on a roll of late. Last week's wins over NSC champ Warren and Zion-Benton gave Antioch a 15-9 overall record.

"Overall, we have the size advantage but we have to shoot well. They have an all-junior lineup so maybe we will be able to take advantage of the inexperience by changing our offenses," Zeeman said.

At Libertyville: North Suburban Conference champion Warren faces Mundelein in the regional opener Feb. 25. East Suburban Catholic Conference power Mundelein Carmel then faces host Libertyville Feb. 26. Winners square off for the title game Feb. 28 for a berth in the Waukegan East sectional.

Warren went on a January-February rampage in the NSC, winning 10 straight games before falling to Antioch Feb. 11. It took the Devils overtime to beat the Mustangs 51-49 last time the two teams met.

The regional opener will mark the fourth time Warren and Mundelein have played each other - twice in conference play, once in the season-opening Mundelein tournament.

"In state tournament play, your next game is your toughest opponent. You can't afford to look past anyone because one loss and you're out. Mundelein has a good club and Ritzinger (Jay, the Mustangs' 6-foot, 5 inch center) is a fine player," Warren coach Darrel Bader said.

At McHenry: Johnsbury opens the tourney when it faces neighbor McHenry Feb. 24.

The Skyhawks, who competed in Class AA tourney for the first time last year, would face Crystal Lake South if they win the opener, Feb. 26.

Fox Valley Conference teams Woodstock and Cary-Grove play the second game Feb. 24 with the winner facing Crystal Lake Central Feb. 26.

Regional Is Next As Blue Devils Blast Scouts

What a difference one half can make.

After playing sluggishly the first half against Lake Forest Feb. 14, Warren's boys basketball team looked like a completely different squad as they dominated the second half and easily beat Lake Forest 59-40.

"We might have been a little too high, especially in the first quarter," coach Darel

Bader said. "It was Parents' Night, their last home game and I had bought them some shirts (proclaiming the Blue Devils' North Suburban Conference champions)."

The big win gives Warren a 19-5 overall mark, 15-2 in the North Suburban Conference.

Warren struggled to a 22-all tie at halftime and had started the game missing 10 of 14 shots from the field.

Joel Elfering hit a jumper for the halftime tie at the buzzer.

But for the senior guard, the night was more memorable for how he set up players for baskets rather than his 12 points.

Elfering broke his own Warren assists mark with seven for a year-long total of 148, topping the record he set last year, 142.

"It was tough in the second half when I realized I would not have him too much longer. He's the best point guard I've ever had," Bader said of Elfering.

Elfering, now 5-foot, 11-inch, 140 pounds, came to the Blue Devil program as a skillful ballhandler but a small guard who needed more bulk.

"He was very small and weak as a freshman. He got overpowered at times, but he was a good ballhandler even back then," Bader said.

It was the second half when Elfering and his teammates showed why they were determined not to see a losing streak reach two games.

The Devils took charge by making their first six shots in the third quarter, racing to a 35-22 lead midway through the period.

"And they were excellent shots. We came out and played a real good second half," Bader said.

The Blue Devils main strengths was getting the ball inside to forward Bob Bell, who scored 14 points and dominating rebounds. Warren won the battle of the boards 32-21.

"We did a good job spreading them out and that made it hard for them to get rebounds," Bader said.

Warren led 41-32 after three. Lake Forest did not score until 3:16 had elapsed in the third quarter.

Brian Jarrell led WTHS with 22 points.

The hosts were coming off an embarrassing 59-43 loss to Antioch which ended a 10-game winning streak Feb. 11.

Jarrell had 20 points for Warren and Elfering 10.

After trailing 21-20 at halftime, Warren let the game slip away in the third quarter as Antioch won the quarter 13-4.

CLC Clinches Skyway, Readies For Sectional

The College of Lake County's men's basketball team, after securing at least a tie for the Skyway Conference title last week, can now turn its energies to post-season play.

CLC hosts a three-team sectional tournament Feb. 27 and March 1 and the host Lancers would appear to be the favorite.

Harper squares off against Skyway Conference entry Elgin at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 27. The Lancers face the winner at 7 p.m. March 1.

The tourney winner advances to the Highland College regional in Freeport, the next step in the junior college tournament.

"We'll have a week layoff and if that does not hurt us, we would appear to be in the driver's seat. But you have to win it on the court," coach

Bruce Smith said.

Smith said Elgin would appear to be the favorite in the tournament opener.

"They would be the favorite. In both games we played them they stayed close until we pulled away in the last 10 minutes," Smith said of Elgin.

If Harper wins the first game, the key will be putting pressure on Harper's shooters, Smith said.

"The key to beating Harper is they can't get hot and shoot 60 percent. We've got to put pressure on their shooters," Smith said.

The Lancers improved their record to 18-9, 11-0 in the Skyway with two games remaining last week. CLC beat McHenry County College 92-82 in a shootout Feb. 11. The Lancers then edged Wright, 78-76, Feb. 13.

Against McHenry, the Lancers led by a slim 50-48 at halftime.

The two teams were tied at 64 midway through the second half before the visitors put together a spurt which became a 10-point lead.

Against Wright, CLC was going for its second win of the season over the host Rams.

Warren graduate Dave Sitz scored 20 points. He made a perfect six-for-six from the field in the second half.

It was Sitz' shot with time expiring that gave CLC the margin of victory.

CLC led 42-36 at halftime. Art Baker led the Lancer attack with 28 points and Greg Washington had 18.

CLC closes out the regular season Feb. 20 at Oakton.

Mustangs To Start Post Season Tournament Play

The Mundelein varsity boys' basketball team finished regular season play against Fenton at home on Feb. 18 and will start post season tournament play on Tuesday, Feb. 25, against Warren in the Libertyville regionals.

The Mustangs will play the winner of the Carmel-

Libertyville game on Feb. 28.

A three-point lead gave the Mustangs a victory against the Libertyville Wildcats on Feb. 14, bringing the final score to 55-52.

In the opening quarter, Mundelein was leading 11-9, but began trailing by one point at the half with a score of 26-25.

The Mustangs picked up 18 more points at the end of the third quarter to give them a five-point lead over the Wildcats, with a score of 43-38.

Leading scorers for Mundelein were Jim Tipperreiter, who scored 18 points, followed by Jay Ritzinger, 11 points, and J.T. Mathwig, 12 points.

Sequoits On a Roll

Antioch's Pat Bruks drives for two of his eight points during North Suburban Conference action against Warren Feb. 11. The Sequoits defeated the Blue Devils 59-43 and are on a roll as of late. They are now 15-9 overall, with one game left in the regular season.—Photo by Sieve Young.

Peterson Jumper Puts Carmel Over Weber

After losing a heart-breaker and then winning a squeaker in two games last weekend, the Carmel Corsairs will close out their 1985-86 season with a home game against Joliet Catholic at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21.

The Corsairs will meet Libertyville in the first game of the regional tournament at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26.

The split left the Corsairs at 7-6 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference and 13-11 for the season.

The loss came at the hands of Marist, 60-57, which Carmel was challenging for a second place finish.

Carmel kept pressure on throughout, actually losing to a one point difference in the waning seconds, but Loren Jackson hit two clutch freethrows with nine seconds left.

Rod Whittier paced Carmel in the Valentine Day loss with 18 points. John Panozzo had 20 points to lead Marist.

The following night it was Carmel's turn to win a close one. And how sweet a victory, a 61-60 buzzer job over Weber, a Chicago Catholic League powerhouse, when 6-2 Senior Forward Scott Peterson of Lake Zurich dropped in a jumper just before the horn went off.

The victory over the Red Horde was Carmel's second in two tries this season against "name" Chicago teams, the other coming in January against Mt. Carmel, current IHSA state champs.

Peterson was a one-man wrecking crew. One of his fourth quarter baskets brought Carmel within one point at 58-57. Then he dropped two of four final stanza freethrows to push the Corsairs ahead 59-58.

Ken Redfield, Weber's 6-6 center and all-state candidate, scored two of his game high 18 points to give the Horde a momentary "victory" at 60-59 with 11 seconds to go before Peterson's heroics.

Knocking off state ranked Weber will be one of the high points of the season and Coach Frank Belmont couldn't have been prouder of his team which has had its ups and downs.

Even in losing to Marist to break a three game win streak, the Corsairs continued to play well balanced, hustling basketball. They are rated a good chance of winning their second regional in two years.

Against Weber, the Corsairs demonstrated they weren't about to fold when Mike Curley's layup after a steal broke a 38-38 tie at the end of the three quarters.

In the see-saw game against the Horde, Whittier led Carmel with 15, followed up Peterson's 14 points. Rob Graham, who went out with five fouls with 54 seconds remaining, had 12 and Rodney Lambright had 10.

The Carmel sophs pushed their record to 18-5 with wins Friday and Saturday night.

Sequoits Win Two, Aim For Tourney

Antioch's Sequoits are preparing for the regional basketball tournament the right way.

Winning.

The Sequoits won two games last week. The victims included the North Suburban Conference champs Warren 59-43 Feb. 11, and Zion-Benton 44-36.

"We could go into the regional with a five-game winning streak," coach Don Zeman said.

The victories improved Antioch to 15-9 overall, 12-5 in the NSC, good enough for second place in the league.

Antioch plays Grant in the Round Lake regional Feb. 25 in the second game. Host Round Lake plays Grayslake in the tournament opener.

Against the Zee-Bees, the host Sequoits led 10-6 after one. Zion outscored Antioch 7-4 for a 15-14 halftime lead.

Antioch came out and dominated the third quarter 12-6. In the fourth, Zion was forced to foul and Antioch made 12 of 18 free-throw tries.

Don Gunther led the way with 17 points.

Gunther did the same against Warren, scoring 20.

The Sequoits blew open a close game in the third quarter, winning the period 17-4.

Despite the recent success, Zeman considers Round Lake the regional favorite.

"I'd have to say Round Lake," Zeman said when asked of the favorite. "Nobody's playing better than us right now, but over the season, they've won 19 games."

Panthers To Finish Off At Grayslake

The Round Lake Panthers will end regular season play when they travel to Grayslake Friday, Feb. 21 to play the Rams.

The Panthers will go into the Grayslake contest with a 19-5 overall record, 9-4 in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Although they possess the most wins of any boy's basketball team in Lake County, the Panthers are coming off a disappointing 69-55 loss at the hands of the Johnsbury Skyhawks.

Before that game, Round Lake demolished the Wauconda Bulldogs 76-40 and it looked as if they were on a roll, but such wasn't the case as the Skyhawks defeated the Panthers by 14 points Feb. 13.

The loss may have ruined Round Lake's chances for second place, but that won't be decided until after the games on the 21st.

Lake Zurich is right behind the Panthers in the standings, so anything can happen.

Bulldogs To Start Regionals After Trailing In Conference

The Wauconda varsity boys' basketball team played their last regular game of the Northwest suburban conference season against Grant at home on Feb. 18 and will begin the Lake Zurich regional tournament at Lake Zurich on Friday, Feb. 26.

The winner of that game will go on to play the winner of the Barrington-Jacobs game on Feb. 28.

In their game against Marian Central, the Bulldogs lost 76-53.

Wauconda trailed by five points during the first quarter with a score of 16-11, and but fought hard to close the gap by two more points, still trailing 33-30 by the end of the half.

The Bulldogs began faltering again during the third quarter with a score of 51-39. This is the 12th straight time Wauconda has lost in conference play.

Top scorers for the Bulldogs were Van Zeyl with 13 points, Nibbio, 11 points, and Schaller with 12 points.

The Grant Bulldogs lost two straight this past week losing to the Grayslake Rams 58-52 on Feb. 11 and to the Lake Zurich Bears 67-52 on Feb. 14.

The Bulldogs lost a close game to the Rams at Grayslake with Ron Richford and Tom Barr getting 14 points each for the Bulldogs and Mike Kaslauskus getting 12. Coach Tom Maple blamed the loss on the Rams having the rebound edge over the Bulldogs along with an outstanding performance by Tom Castino who scored 24 points for the Rams.

"Grayslake had the better overall game and won a close one," said Maple.

The same could not be said of Grant's effort against the Lake Zurich Bears at home

"This was our worst performance of the year, a real uninspired effort on the part of the team," said Maple. "For the first time this year we did not work very hard and Lake Zurich out hustled us."

Maple did cite a strong personal effort by Mike Kaslauskus, who had 13 points, 7 assists, and 5 steals. However, Maple said that this did not make up for "sub-par performances" by others on the team. The Bulldogs hit only 21 of 56 shots from the field and 10 of 22 shots from the line.

The Bulldogs are scheduled to play Wauconda at Wauconda on Feb. 18 and Johnsbury at home on Feb. 21.

Ready For Rival

by DAN G. O'SHEA

The Grayslake Rams will host Northwest Suburban Conference rival Round Lake Friday, Feb. 21 in their last regular season game after coming off of a 1-1 week, which includes their "best game of the year."

On Feb. 11 the Rams overcame the Grant Bulldogs 58-52. "It was definitely our best game of the year," said Grayslake Coach Greg Groth. "We got buckets when we needed them. We slowed the ball down and tried to get it inside. Plus, the fans were really into it which always helps a lot."

Guard Tom Castino led the Rams' charge with 24 points, his season high. Forward Bill Sangbusch followed with nine and Kelly Bye and Jeff West both had eight.

Sangbusch also had 10 rebounds, and West and Flood had five each. Concerning the Rams defensive game, Groth said, "I still think we've got one of the best defenses around."

The Rams challenged new league champion Marengo on the road Feb. 14 and lost 68-54. They played with the Indians for a quarter and a half and were within range most of the game.

"We took some shots we shouldn't have, but we played a pretty good game," said Groth. The Rams lost guard Daryl Mackenthun in the second half when he injured his ankle.

Castino led Grayslake with 20 points and Sangbusch scored his season high of 15 points while pulling down 17 rebounds, a team high for the season.

The Rams played at Johnsbury on Feb. 18. They entered the game with a 5-7 conference record and 9-12 season mark.

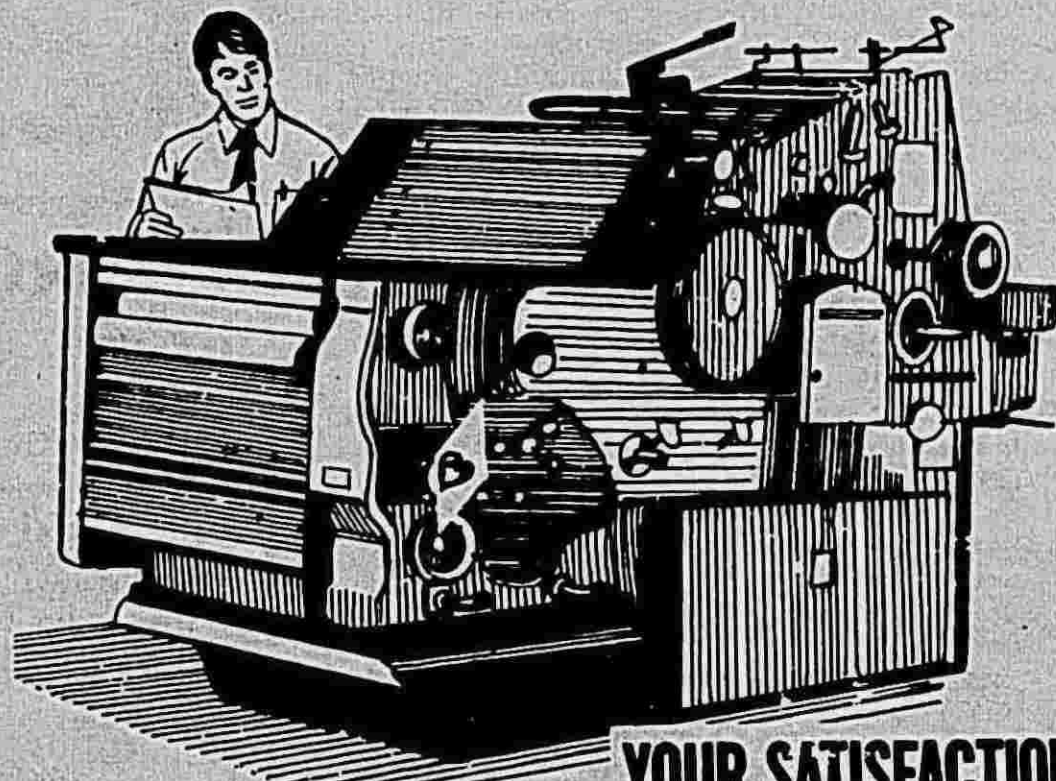

Grayslake will face Round Lake in IHSA regional tournament play next week. The Panthers are seeded No. 1.

Castino has a 14.3 season average and has scored 286 points. He has the top free throw percentage among regulars with 72-107 for 67 percent.

Five other Grayslake players now have more than 100 points. West has 124 for an average of nearly six points per game. Sangbusch has 116, Bye has 113 with 103 for Mackenthun and 101 points for junior Andrew Flood.

Travel

There Are Travelers For Almost Any Reason

Nationally, tourism utilizes an ever widening variety of ploys to attract travelers. Never before has our nation been so aware of visitor advantages to area economics. We are a population being subtly stimulated to travel...for almost as many reasons as there are travelers.

Illinois vacationers are invited to Escape to Wisconsin, Wander Indiana and Say, Yes to Michigan, or order Ohio Pass Coupon Books. All of this, they pledge to constituents, will stimulate local economy with new dollars and added jobs.

Recognition of tourism as the first, second or third income producer in most of these United States, has sparked governmental support, expensive public relation programs and measurable results for the concerned economies.

The casual traveler of yesteryear has become today's valued guest. Cities, such as Des Moines, Iowa and Wichita, Kan., offer guest cards to out-of-state visitors which entitle them to discounts in participating hotels, restaurants, shops and attractions.

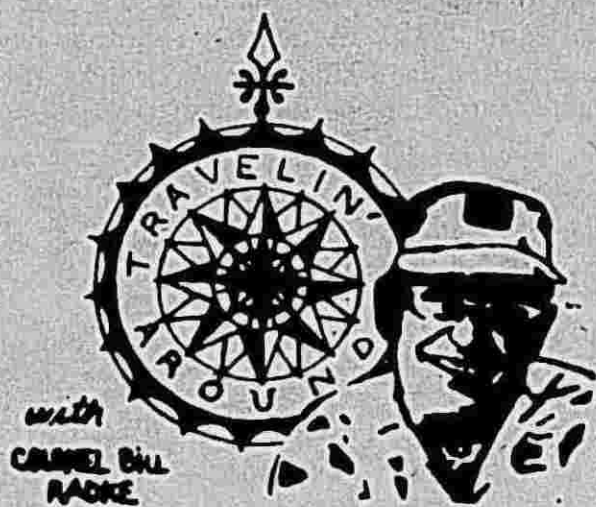

Delivering tourists to destinations also has special rate considerations among airlines, motorcoaches, trains, boats, RVs and rental vehicles. Many offer cooperative discount packages that include lodging, eating and transportation.

Heavy emphasis is placed on the senior audience and their love for travel, made realistic with open time and financial stability. Venerability, variously classified from age 50 and upward, provides valuable dollar saving considerations in all phases of travel. Consult with a recognized travel agency...they offer good, free advice and are paid to give it by the destinations served.

Camping is one of America's top favorite sport and travel interests. It appeals to families of all ages...today's campers ultimately become tomorrow's seniors, oriented to travel. It's estimated, one of every four adults have some camping experience. That's over 60 million of us. It rates camping as the third most popular participating travel sport in the nation. This growing figure may reach 64 million by 1990.

Those wanting to brush up on camping, related equipment and general travel, may do so at the 18th Annual Chicagoland RV and Camper Show at O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont. It opens Friday, Feb. 21 and runs thru Sunday, March 2. Adult admissions are $5. $2 for those 13 and under.

In addition to the pleasures of camping, a 1984 industry study confirmed, recreation vehicle vacations as money savers. The study determined, an average family of four can save 50 percent against comparable car/motel vacations. The percentage of savings applies equally to weekend trips, mini vacations or three weekers. Based on an 1984 city study, nightly campsite rates were $10.46 and $50.24 for motel rooms.

Not only a money saver, but camping is a great boost to family togetherness...important at a time when a parent's number of children is sometimes exceeded by a child's number of parents.

Slate Seminar For Feb. 26

The first Lake County Medical/Surgical Seminar for 1986 will be held Wednesday, Feb. 26, at Saint Therese Medical Center, from 8:30 to 11:30 am.

The seminar will present specific medical entities identified as "learning aids" to improve diagnostic techniques and the clinical management of Acute Myocardial Infarction, Premature Ventricular Contractions, Estrogen Replacement Therapy as well as a Cardiology update. The program should enhance the working expertise of cardiologists, family practitioners, internists, and gynecologists.

"Estrogen Replacement

Therapy" will be the first topic at 8:35 am. Presenting the program will be Robert William Rebar, M.D., professor, section of reproductive endocrinology infertility/departments of obstetrics and gynecology at Northwestern Memorial Hospital, Chicago.

George W. Vetrovec, M.D., assistant professor of medicine at the Medical College of Virginia, will present "Management of Acute Myocardial Infarction" at 9:15 am.

At 10 am, "Cardiology Update" will be given by David Alan Slosky, M.D., medical director of the cardiac rehabilitation program at St. Mary's Hospital in Milwaukee.

To register for this seminar, which includes free parking and a buffet luncheon, call the medical affairs office at (312)360-2555.

Dietary Fat May Be Contributing To Cataracts

Question—What would be a healthy diet for the elderly, especially to help prevent cataracts? (Submitted by: Mrs. J.C. of Wauconda)

Answer—Established information regarding diet and cataracts is very limited, however, there are general dietary factors to consider. There is some data to indicate that dietary fat may be contributing to the formation of cataracts.

Dietary fat also contributes to decreased blood circulation which may be an associated risk for development of cataracts as it is with several other health hazards. Major fat intake is from fried foods, red meats (beef and pork), shell fish, whole milk dairy products (especially cheese, ice cream, cream cheese), chocolate and oils (such as salad dressing and mayonnaise).

Large amounts of caffeine, more than five cups daily, may contribute to increased use of oxygen by the cells and decreased available oxygen to the brain which indirectly could affect the health of the eyes.

Remember, coffee contains the largest amount of caffeine, regular tea is next. Decaffeinated coffee and tea have only small amounts of caffeine, but do contain other chemicals such as the methylxanthines, which have been implicated in benign fibrocystic disease of the breast. Chocolate, cocoa and some soft drinks contain small amounts of caffeine which can attribute to accumulative amounts of caffeine when combined with other sources.

As age increases, the metabolic rate of the body decreases and organ systems often decrease in varying degrees of efficiency. We should never over-use central nervous system stimulants such as; caffeine, refined processed sugar, or mono-sodium glutamate (MSG). This is especially important for the young and the elderly, since their nervous systems are most sensitive.

Vitamin E is an anti-oxidant and is known to aid in prevention of degeneration. Scientific relationship of Vitamin E and cataracts has not been fully established, however, there is limited data to indicate some worthwhile benefits. Dietary analysis indicate that Vitamin E is quite difficult to obtain from our usual diets even for those following a well balanced program.

Unrefined unprocessed oils contain the most quantity of usable Vitamin E. Whole grains, especially wheat, wheat germ and nuts, (especially peanuts) contain an adequate amount of Vitamin E. Other food sources include: parsley, mustard greens, leeks, brown rice and corn meal. Vitamin E is fat soluble and, therefore, is stored in the body and is usable much longer than water soluble vitamins.

Supplemental Vitamin E will increase blood circulation and must be administered carefully on a daily basis. There are interactions with medications and, therefore, intake should be directed and guided by a health professional knowledgeable in food supplement administration.

Vitamin C, also associated with improved circulation, is more prevalent in our daily diets than Vitamin E. However, Vitamin C is water soluble and easily lost with polluting factors, such as: cigarette smoke, car and airplane exhaust and radiation.

Pat D's Nutrition Today

Pat DeAngelis is a nutrition consultant to American International Hospital, Zion. Readers with questions about the food and liquid they consume are invited to address questions to Pat D's Nutrition Today, Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, Ill. 60030.

Cooking and high heat processing also decrease the Vitamin C content of most foods. Generally, the best sources of Vitamin C from our diet are raw uncooked fruits and vegetables, especially tomatoes, citrus fruits, broccoli and green peppers. Supplemental Vitamin C may be beneficial in preventing cataracts as it is for many health conditions.

There are herbal formulations on the market that aid in dilating the blood vessels including those of the eye, and therefore, assist in improving blood circulation.

Vitamins and minerals work well together. Vitamin A is considered beneficial for healthy eyes and the mineral partner for eyes is zinc. The best dietary sources for zinc are whole grains, seeds and come meats.

Generally, the best recommended diet for the elderly is a high complex carbohydrate (vegetable, fruit, and whole grains) low fat, moderate protein, low salt and refined sugar.

How can the Joneses afford a week on the Gulf Coast?

Sit down to a seafood dinner in any one of our waterfront restaurants and the couple next to you will probably be from Illinois. How can they afford it? Easy. Our hotel and motel rates are lower right now because it's off-season. So a lot of our Chicago neighbors are here enjoying the season we call winter — although you might call it spring. Our sun shines bright year round. So you can play golf on our 11 courses. Eat fresh seafood. Or stroll on the beach in just a jacket. Our free planner shows you just how little it costs. ☐ Send for yours today. Then just act smug when your neighbors ask how you can afford it.

Special Provisions To Be Aware Of

If you're divorced or separated, there are special tax provisions you should know about before you prepare your tax return, according to the Internal Revenue Service. There are tax rules if you are paying or receiving alimony, tax breaks if you qualify for "Head of Household" status, tax credits if you pay someone to watch your child so you can work, and an earned income credit that returns money to you if you have a low income.

If your divorce has been declared final during this tax year, you are generally considered to be in the "Single" tax status. However, you can save money on your taxes if you can qualify for the "Head of Household" tax status. If you qualify as a head of household, your tax rate will be lower than the rates for single people.

To qualify for head of household status, you had to be unmarried on the last day of the year. To be considered unmarried, even if married but living apart, you must file a separate tax return and your spouse cannot have lived in your home during the last 6 months of the tax year. In addition, you also must have paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home during the year for: an unmarried child who does not have to be your dependent; for a married child whom you can claim as a dependent or whom you could claim as your dependent except that the non-custodial parent will claim the exemption for the child; or for any other relative whom you may claim as a dependent. Except for your parents, any of these relatives for whom you maintain a home must live with you more than half the year.

If you pay someone to care for your child so you can go to work or look for work, you can save money on your taxes as well. The credit for child and dependent care expenses allows you to take a tax credit of up to 30 percent of the money you pay for child care each year. Your child has to be under 15 years old or be unable to care for himself or herself for you to take this credit. If your adjusted gross income is $10,000 or less, you may take a credit of up to $720 if you have one child, or up to $1,440 if you have two or more children being cared for. The maximum credit decreases for higher incomes.

It is important to remember that you may claim this credit only if you have child care expenses to allow you to work or look for work. You can claim a credit for the expense of having a preschool child attend a day care center or nursery school during the day. However, the regular costs of schooling for a child in the first grade or above cannot be considered for the credit. Care for the child before and after school hours can be used to figure this credit. You may also claim a credit if you're paying somebody to care for your child in your home.

For divorced or separated parents, the parent who has custody for a longer time during the calendar year can claim the credit. Generally, a person who is married at the end of the tax year must file a joint return to claim the child care credit. A person who is legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance is considered unmarried and may claim the credit on a separate return.

Special Tax Rules

However, if you are married, living apart but not legally separated, you can claim the child care credit on a separate return only if your child lived with you for more than half the year, you paid more than half the cost of keeping up your home for the year, and your spouse did not live in your home for the last six months of the year.

People who are divorced should know the relationship between alimony and taxes. If you are paying alimony or separate maintenance payments, you may be able to deduct these payments from your income. You may deduct alimony from gross income to find your adjusted gross income. You may only deduct the amount of alimony payments specified in the court decree or written separation agreement. If you deduct alimony or separate maintenance payments, you must include your spouse's or former spouse's social security number, on your return for the year payment is made. If you do not include this social security number on your return, you may have to pay a $50 penalty. Your spouse or former spouse may have to pay a $50 penalty for refusing to give you the social security number. Any additional amount of money you pay to your former spouse is not deductible.

You are not allowed to deduct child support payments. Of note to taxpayers required to pay child support payments is the offset of tax refunds to cover outstanding child support payments due in states that have asked the Department of Health and Human Services to help collect on these delinquent payments.

If you are receiving alimony, you are required to treat these payments as taxable income. Remember that not all payments are considered alimony. For instance, property settlements, are not alimony. Check the special rules on alimony. Child support payments that are made for minor children, since they are not deductible to the payor, do not have to be included in income.

Also of interest to many divorced people is the Earned Income Credit. If you earn less than $11,000 during the year and have a child living with you, you could get up to $550 back. If you think you will be eligible for the Earned Income Credit, you can receive it in advance as a part of your weekly paycheck. If you want to begin receiving earned income credit payments with your weekly wages, you should submit a Form W-5, Earned Income Credit Advance Payment Certificate, to your employer.

To find out more about tax rules and benefits for divorced and separated people, you can order the free Publication 504, Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals, Publication 503, Child and Dependent Care Credit, and Employment Taxes for Household Employers, and Publication 596, Earned Income Credit, by calling or writing the IRS. These publications are also contained in Publication 1194, Tax Information Publications, a reference reading set available at many libraries.

1040 Form Has Its Advantages

While the Internal Revenue Service encourages as many taxpayers as possible to use the simpler 1040A and 1040EZ forms, there will be millions of taxpayers who will find it to their advantage to itemize deductions on the 1040 form.

Generally, you will benefit from itemizing deductions if you paid interest and taxes on a home you own, had unusually large uninsured medical and dental expenses during the year, made large contributions to qualified charitable organizations, or had major uninsured casualty losses. What this means is that you will probably have itemized deductions totalling more than the zero bracket amount for your filing status.

Taxpayers who itemize deductions reduce their adjusted gross income by their excess itemized deductions. Excess itemized deductions is the amount by which total itemized deductions exceeds the zero bracket amount. For example, a married couple filing jointly, with itemized deductions of $5,640, would subtract their zero bracket amount of $3,540 from the $5,640 in order to determine their excess itemized deductions of $2,100.

The adjusted gross income is reduced by the excess itemized deduction over the zero bracket amount. This amount is already incorporated into the tax tables and the tax rate schedules.

Itemized deductions are non-business deductions. If you itemize your deductions, you must file Form 1040 and fill in Schedule A (Form 1040). Schedule A provides space for listing deductible medical and dental expenses, charitable contributions, taxes, interest paid, casualty or theft losses, and miscellaneous items such as union dues.

If you itemize, you should keep a record of your deductible items, including cancelled checks and receipts. This will verify your expenses should the IRS examine your return. It will also help you determine whether your itemized deductions are greater than your zero bracket amount.

Taxpayers who itemize can take advantage of many deductible expenses. Here is a brief explanation of some types of deductions available.

Charitable Contributions

Generally, you may deduct contributions given to any qualified organization established and operated exclusively for charitable, religious, educational, scientific, or literary purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; to certain organizations that foster national or international amateur sports competition; to fraternal organizations if the contributions are used for charitable purposes; to veterans' organizations; or, to governmental agencies that will use the gifts exclusively for public purposes.

This means you may deduct contributions to most religious organizations, community funds, Boy and Girl Scouts, the YMCA, the Red Cross, the American Cancer Society, CARE, Veterans of Foreign Wars, etc. You may not deduct contributions to civic leagues or chambers of commerce.

If you donate property other than money, you must base your deduction on the fair market value of the property, that is, the amount you could reasonably charge if you were selling the property.

Bear in mind a contribution is only a contribution at the time of its delivery. Pledges are not contributions until you make payment. Also, if a contribution results in a personal benefit, all or part of it may not be deductible. For example, if you buy a $50 ticket for a church benefit and receive a meal at the function worth $15, you can only claim $35 as a charitable contribution.

Medical Expenses

You may deduct the medical expenses you paid during 1985 to the extent that they exceed five percent of your adjusted gross income. If you were reimbursed by insurance or otherwise, that amount must be subtracted from your medical expenses.

Payments for the diagnosis, cure, prevention, or treatment of a physical or mental illness are deductible as are payments for the purpose of affecting any structure or function of the body.

Deductible medical expenses include your payments to doctors, dentists, psychiatrists, etc.; payments to hospitals for service, laboratory fees, x-rays, etc.; and, payments for eyeglasses, hearing aids and parts, dentures, crutches, etc.

Things not allowed are trips taken to "get away from it all," even if advised by a doctor, health club dues, maternity clothes, and diaper services.

Expenses for transportation essential to medical care—such as getting to and from a doctor's office—may be included in medical expenses. This includes taxi, bus, train, or plane fares.

If you use your car, you may deduct the actual out-of-pocket expenses, such as gas and oil, or nine cents for each mile you use your car for this purpose. In addition, you may deduct parking fees and tolls. Be sure to keep track of your expenses and mileage.

As of 1984, the one percent limit for drugs no longer applies, and deductible drugs will include only insulin and drugs that are obtainable with a prescription.

Interest

Interest paid during the year on a debt for which you are legally responsible is deductible.

This includes such debts as a car loan, a bank loan, an educational loan, or a mortgage of your home. However, if in 1985, you prepaid interest allocable to any period after 1985, you can only deduct the amount of interest allocable to 1985 on your 1985 return.

If you buy such things as clothing, a radio or TV set, furniture, or household appliances on an installment plan, budget charge account or credit card that lists a finance charge, you may treat the finance charge payment as interest.

In general, interest deductions must meet the following tests: the interest must result from an actual debtor-creditor relationship; the interest must be based on a valid obligation to pay a sum of money; and, the debt must be one for which you are legally liable.

Taxes

The following state or local taxes you paid during the year are deductible: state or local income tax (including tax withheld or paid as estimated tax during the year), real property tax, personal property tax, general sales tax and contributions to certain state disability benefit funds. The 1985 Optional State Sales Tax Tables are a convenient reference for determining the amount you may be able to deduct for sales taxes.

Remember, the sales tax on certain major purchases—a car, motorcycle, motor home, truck, boat, plane, home (including mobile or prefabricated), materials purchased to build a new home—can be deducted in addition to the sales tax table amount. Personal property taxes assessed by some states, especially on cars, may be deductible if they are based only on the value of the personal property and are imposed annually.

Generally, no federal taxes are deductible on your federal income tax return.

Miscellaneous Deductions

These deductions include such items as union dues; the cost of safety equipment, tools, and supplies used in your job including professional and trade journals; and, expenses incurred in seeking new employment in the same trade or business. Job hunting expenses are not deductible if you're seeking employment in a new field of work.

You can also deduct the rent on your safety deposit box if you keep income-producing items in it, such as stocks and bonds. Taxpayers who hire someone to prepare their tax returns can deduct the fee paid to the preparer.

If you legally adopt a child with special needs, you may be able to deduct up to $1,500 of qualified adoption expenses as a miscellaneous deduction. A child with special needs is one who the state determines is described in the Social Security Act adoption assistance program. This is a child who the state determines cannot or should not be returned to his or her parental home, who has a specific factor or condition that makes the child difficult to place, and who has been the subject of an unsuccessful placement effort.

Qualified adoption expenses include reasonable and necessary adoption fees, court costs, attorney fees, and other expenses that are directly related to the adoption of the child. Adoption expenses do not include any expenses for which you may receive a credit or that you may otherwise deduct. In addition, you may not deduct any expenses for which you received payments from a federal, state, or local program to pay for your adoption expenses.

looking for a brilliant deduction? LOOK TO OUR I.R.A.

But better look soon, since you just have until April 15, 1986 to open an I.R.A. and get a break on your 1985 tax return. Contribute up to $2,000 a year ($4,000 for a working couple) and deduct your contribution from your current taxable income. Plus, the high interest you earn is also tax-deferred until retirement. Investigate for yourself. There's no mystery on how to secure a better financial retirement with our tax-sheltered I.R.A.s.

Some Energy Savers May Not Claim Credit

Taxpayers claiming the residential energy tax credit should make certain that their expenses qualify for the credit, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS has noticed some taxpayers claim the residential energy tax credit for materials and equipment which clearly do not qualify for the credit. In addition, the credit has also been claimed by taxpayers who received subsidized energy financing. Subsidized energy financing is financing under any federal, state, or local programs that are set up to provide subsidized financing for projects to save or produce energy. The use of tax exempt bonds for providing funds under such programs is an example of subsidized energy financing.

Energy tax credits are designed to encourage energy saving and the development of renewable energy sources. They are divided into two types: the credit for energy conservation items added to homes substantially completed before April 20, 1977; and, the credit for renewable energy sources.

The credit for energy conservation is 15% of the first $2,000 spent on items to save energy, up to a maximum credit of $300. The credit for renewable energy source devices is 40% of the first $10,000 spent on solar, geothermal, or wind-powered equipment, up to a maximum of $4,000.

Examples of qualifying energy conservation items are: insulation designed to reduce heat loss or heat gain in the home; storm or thermal windows or doors for the outside of the house; caulking or weather stripping of outside doors and windows; clock thermostats or other automatic setback thermostats; furnace replacement burners; flue opening modifications and ignition systems that replace a gas pilot light; and, meters that show the cost of energy use.

Examples of qualifying renewable energy source items are: solar energy equipment for heating or cooling the home or for providing hot water or electricity for use in the home; wind energy equipment for generating electricity; and, geothermal energy equipment.

There has been much publicity by companies that sell energy saving devices, materials and renewable energy source equipment. Most taxpayers who invested in the materials and equipment were encouraged to do so in order to reduce energy costs, and because of tax credit incentives.

The IRS has discovered some taxpayers who claimed the credit on non-qualifying items. The IRS believes this to be a misunderstanding by taxpayers of what qualifies for the credit. Some advertisers of materials and equipment do not specify in their advertisements which portion of the product qualifies for the credit.

Examples of items that do not qualify are:

House Siding: This is considered to be decorative although it may provide some insulating effect. However, if any insulating barrier is placed between the house and the siding, the cost of the insulating materials would qualify for the credit.

Greenhouses: Taxpayers have mistakenly claimed the entire cost of a greenhouse, however, this type of a structural unit serves a dual purpose or function and does not qualify for the credit.

Other items that do not qualify are wood burning stoves, glass fireplace screens, heat pumps, replacement furnaces and wood paneling.

IRS encourages taxpayers to take full advantage of the residential energy tax credit, but also to be certain the devices or materials purchased qualify for the credit.

For additional information, taxpayers can order the free IRS Publication 903, Energy Credits for Individuals, by using the handy order form in the tax package.

Retirees Should Review Tax Status of Pensions and Annuities

Retirees receiving pension or annuity payments should carefully review the tax status of that income in order to decide whether to permit tax withholding on these payments, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Federal income tax is now generally withheld from pension and annuity payments. However, this withholding is not compulsory; any person can apply for exemption. The payer of the pension or annuity payments will tell the retiree how to file for the exemption.

To determine whether to have tax withheld, taxpayers should review the tax rules that cover pensions and annuities. A pension to which an employee contributed nothing during his or her employment, for example, is fully taxable in much the same way salaries and wages are during working years. The full amount must be reported as income on the line designated for fully taxable pensions and annuities on Form 1040. The 1040A and 1040EZ forms cannot be used to report pension income, the IRS said.

On the other hand, a pension to which both the employer and employee contributed, while not fully taxable, is partially taxable and is subject to special tax reporting.

If a retiree will recover his or her total contributions within 36 months after the first payment is received, then the pension or annuity payments are not taxed until the contributions are recovered. This is because the contributions were taxed while the person was employed.

Those who will not recover their contributions within a 36-month period are entitled to exclude from taxable income a certain percentage of their pensions each year. Normally, the issuer of the pension will compute the exclusion percentage—the figure that determines how much of a pension can be excluded from income. The exclusion percentage, once computed, does not change. If the issuer of the pension does not compute this percentage, instructions can be found in the free IRS Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income.

This publication will have the answers to most questions on the tax treatment of pensions and annuities, and can be ordered by using the handy order form found in each tax package.

U.S. Government retirees should get Publication 567, U.S. Civil Service Retirement and Disability.

In addition, for persons 60 years of age and over, free tax counseling is available through local IRS-coordinated Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) programs. Through this program, specially trained volunteers provide tax assistance on such matters as tax credit for the elderly, special treatment of the gain on the sale of a home by those age 55 and over, the proper method of reporting certain pension income and paying tax on it when necessary, and other subjects of special interest and concern to older persons. The volunteers also help fill out tax returns.

Those who are eligible, and need the assistance of this program, should call the IRS for information.

The Bottom-Line IRA

We Dare Other IRAs To Beat It!

A lot of IRAs offered today look mighty tempting. But when the smokescreen of bonuses and gimmicks has cleared and all the horns and whistles have stopped blowing, the only important thing is the bottom line... the amount your IRA will be worth at maturity. You will be surprised at how those gimmicks disguise a low yield. We've checked our competition on IRAs carefully. The "bottom line" is that most of them can't top the high yields of Skokie Federal IRAs...pure and simple.

At current rates, a deposit of $2,000 in our 3-Year IRA would yield a tax-deferred $2,610 at maturity. The same contribution to our 5-Year IRA would yield a tax-deferred $3,237. We think you should check the "bottom line" wherever you open your IRA. Give us a call or stop in for actual comparisons...or call our competition. You'll find you are further ahead with the Bottom-Line IRA from Skokie Federal.

Term	Annual Rate %	Annual Yield %	$ Yield at Maturity*
3 Year	8.60	9.11	$2,598
5 Year IRA	9.35	9.94	$3,212

Incorrect Entries Slow Processing

Each year there are some predictable trouble spots with federal income tax forms, according to the Internal Revenue Service. These are areas where large numbers of taxpayers make incorrect entries and thereby slow the processing of tax forms.

These trouble spots fall into two broad categories: problems that recur each year, such as taxpayers selecting the incorrect figure from the tax tables; and problems that stem from changes in the tax laws and forms from one year to the next, such as the addition of a new line to a form or the shift of an existing line to a new position on the form.

Not surprisingly, the largest percentage of errors is made on Form 1040, the so-called long form. To assist filers of this form, IRS has compiled the following list of problem areas to double-check:

1. Medical Deductions. This item is not entered on Form 1040, but on a related Schedule A. Because Schedule A was redesigned last year, this item will probably be one of the leaders on the list of last year's most common errors. Due to rule changes on medical deductions, IRS expects problems again this year. Be sure to check the limitation on medical expenses.
2. Figure from Tax Table. Because of the number of pages and figures involved, this item is always high on the list of most common errors for all tax forms. Double check the figure from the tax table for your filing status and enter on line 38. Check the box for Tax Table.
3. Unemployment compensation. Double-check your figures on the worksheet in the tax instruction booklet (page 10), and make appropriate entries on lines 20a and 20b.
4. Child Care Credit. Read instructions carefully and double-check your computations on Form 2441. Credit for Child and Disabled Dependent Care Expenses. Enter the figure on line 41 and attach Form 2441 to your return.

5. Balance Due/Refund. This important item usually makes the list of most common errors. If your total tax (line 56) is larger than your total payments made (line 64), enter the difference on line 68, Amount You Owe. Follow the instructions for remitting payment. If the reverse is true, enter the difference on line 65, Overpaid. Enter on line 66, Refunded to You, the portion of the line 65 overpayment that you want refunded to you.
6. Earned Income Credit (EIC) Not Claimed. If you are a working parent and have at least one child living with you, and if your adjusted gross income (line 32) is less than $11,000, you probably qualify. See page 16 of the instructions.
7. EIC Error or Not Qualified. Make sure you are qualified. Certain expectations must be met, and you must have a dependent child living with you and you must have worked during the year. Follow the instruction carefully and enter on line 59.
8. Dividends. You must complete and attach Schedule B if you have over $400 in dividend income. Enter your total dividends on line 9a; your exclusion (up to $100 for individual filers, up to $200 for married filing jointly) on line 9b; and enter the difference (subtract line 9b from 9a) on line 9c.
9. Income Computation. This is an outgrowth of item 8, since the taxpayers who miscalculate their dividend income will have an error on line 23, total income. Double-check these figures.

10. Income Averaging. Schedule G, Income Averaging, is one of the most difficult forms for individual filers, because of the number of tax years covered. You should have copies of your returns for the preceding three years in order to accurately complete this form. Read and follow instructions carefully and double-check all figures.

Free High School Materials Help Students Understand Taxes

Understanding Taxes is a high school instructional program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. It is designed to teach juniors and seniors an important "life skill"—how to take advantage of their federal tax rights and discharge their tax responsibilities. The following questions and answers have been prepared by the IRS to explain the program.

- Q. What is covered in the Understanding Taxes curriculum?
A. The course covers issues ranging from the economics and politics of taxation to facts and fallacies about the IRS and a general overview of state taxes. Since most students usually have a small income and will first file the short Form 1040EZ, a line by line explanation of the 1040EZ is covered in one of the modules.
- Q. How can students take the Understanding Taxes course?
A. The IRS offers the comprehensive course, complete with all educational materials, to any interested high school, adult education or English-as-a-second language center. The Understanding Taxes program can last from two weeks to a semester if taught in its entirety, or from one to five days if only particular chapters are covered. It can be incorporated into math, civics, economics, vocational education and business classes.

- Q. How much preparation and tax knowledge do I need to teach this course?
A. Very little. The teachers' manual and supplementary material will provide everything you need. The manual includes course objectives, lesson plans and suggestions for extra credit projects.
- Q. Are many high school students taking advantage of the Understanding Taxes curriculum?
A. Yes. In the 1984 school year, four million students in high schools nationwide took the Understanding Taxes program. Some cities and states even require the course for graduation or use it almost exclusively to meet state requirements for teaching taxes.
- Q. How do we get an Understanding Taxes program started in our school?
A. Contact your local IRS district Taxpayer Education Coordinator for details. An interested parent should contact the school's principal and inform him or her about the program.
- Q. Does my state department of education support Understanding Taxes?
A. In 1984, every department of education in the U.S. assisted the IRS in expanding the Understanding Taxes program.

How to get the U.S. Government to help finance your retirement.

It's possible with a First National Bank of McHenry Individual Retirement Account (IRA). Because while you're building your retirement savings, you get a break on your income taxes.

Here's how it works

Every year you can contribute up to 100% of your annual income - to the maximum of $2,000.00 ($2,250.00 under certain conditions) - to an IRA plan at First National Bank of McHenry. Even if you are presently covered by a pension or profit-sharing plan where you work, you're eligible for an IRA.

The Money you contribute each year to your IRA is deductible from your taxable income. And taxes on all the money on your IRA are deferred until you begin receiving benefits.

Take a tax break now.

What's more, if you open your IRA plan with us before April 15, 1986 you can claim the deduction on your 1985 income tax return. And every year after that you can deduct that year's IRA contribution from your annual taxable income.

Get more for your money. And your retirement.

High interest rates are available for IRA's. For example, at First National you can invest your IRA contribution in our 1 thru 6 year certificate of deposits and receive interest, compounded quarterly, that is indexed to U.S. Government Treasury Notes.

The Minimum deposit is just $500.00. The interest rate at which these certificates are issued changes weekly. So, just call us for this week's rate.

Ask and you'll receive.

We realize that IRA plans may be confusing. And your first impulse may be to forget the whole thing. But don't. You owe it to yourself to get the best plan you can.

So come to see us about your IRA. After all, we're bankers. We can tell you about these plans. And help you get everything the law allows.

The more you know about banking, the better for both of us.

Business Deduction Tax Rules

Knowing the proper reporting and recordkeeping requirements is essential for those taxpayers who claim business-related travel, transportation, entertainment and gift expenses, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The primary proof for these business expenses starts with keeping timely entries of what was spent in a log, diary, journal, appointment book, or similar record. These entries must also include the date and location of the business travel or entertainment, along with who was seen, and the business purpose for incurring the expense, the IRS said. A receipt or similar supporting evidence is required for all expenses of $25 or more.

According to IRS guidelines, all business expenses must be ordinary and necessary in the taxpayer's line of work to be deductible. Reasonable local transportation expenses such as the cost of driving and maintaining an automobile while on business, excluding any commuting and personal mileage, can be deducted.

For a business-related trip outside the area of his or her main place of business, a taxpayer may deduct expenses such as food and lodging, said the IRS. Allowable entertainment deductions must either be directly related to, or associated with, the active pursuit of the taxpayer's business. Business gifts that the taxpayer may deduct are generally limited to $25 for any one individual for the year. The burden of proof for all business expenses lies with the taxpayer, who must show that a bonafide business purpose exists.

Complete information on deducting these business expenses can be found in the free IRS Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment, and Gift Expenses." It is available by writing or calling the IRS, or by using the order form found in the tax package.

Studies May Be Deductible

Expenses for education relevant to a taxpayer's current employment may be deductible, the Internal Revenue Service says.

To qualify, the expenses must meet at least one of two specific guidelines. Taking the course of study must be mandatory for continuance in one's current employment status—for example, a teacher required to take a course to retain a teaching position. If not, the course must be helpful in maintaining or improving skills which are required in one's present employment—for instance, a television repairman taking a course to keep up with the latest changes.

However, the cost of other educational expenses are not deductible. Expenses for education that prepares one for a new trade or business—such as a journalist studying law—may not be deducted, even if the education is required or beneficial in the taxpayer's present employment. Similarly, the expense for study to help meet the minimum educational requirements for a current position is not an allowable deduction—for example, a full-time engineering student who has a part-time job in a minor engineering capacity.

Educational expenses include amounts spent on tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees, similar items, and certain travel and transportation costs. Educational expenses other than travel and transportation are itemized deductions and should be listed on Schedule A (Form 1040) as miscellaneous deductions. Travel and transportation are deducted as adjustments to income using Form 2106.

Five-Part Checklist for Dependency/Exemptions

Many people provide support for others. However, to claim a person as a dependent on the federal income tax return, certain specific tests must be met. Answering the following statements should help you determine whether or not a person is your dependent:

- | | Yes | No |
|--|-------|-------|
| 1. You furnished more than half the persons' total support during the year. | _____ | _____ |
| 2. The person's income is less than $1,040 unless he or she is your child or stepchild who is under nineteen, or who is a full-time student for at least 5 months of the year. | _____ | _____ |
| 3. The person was a U.S. citizen, resident or national, or a resident of Canada or Mexico for some part of the year. | _____ | _____ |
| 4. The person is your child, stepchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, grandchild, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, or, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, or related by blood. If the person is not one of the relatives listed, he or she was a member of your household and lived with you for the entire year. | _____ | _____ |
| 5. If married, the person is not filing a joint return with his or her spouse OR neither the person nor the person's spouse is required to file but they are filing a joint return only to claim a refund of tax withheld. | _____ | _____ |

If you answered yes for all statements you may claim the person as your dependent.

Tips Should Be Accounted For

Employees to whom tips are allocated should report the allocated tips as income on their income tax returns, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Tips are allocated by the employer, who compares the total of all tips reported by the employees with eight percent (or a lower percentage) of the establishment's total food and beverage receipts, excluding carryout sales, state or local taxes, and sales on which there was a 10 percent service charge or more. If records show that the total tips reported by the employees falls below the applicable percentage, the employer will be required to allocate the difference between the two amounts among either those employees who receive tips directly from customers, or all tipped employees, and report the difference to the IRS.

Tip allocations are made only to employees who receive tips directly from customers unless there is an agreement that they be allocated among all tipped employees. Employers should withhold income, social security or railroad retirement tax only on the tips reported by the employees, not on the allocated amounts. Food and beverage establishments where tipping is customary and that normally employ more than 10 employees are required to file an annual report with the IRS. The amount employees must include on their tax returns may be more or less than the allocated amount. However, the IRS may use the employer's annual report to determine that a tipped employee received a larger amount of tip income than reflected by the tip allocation.

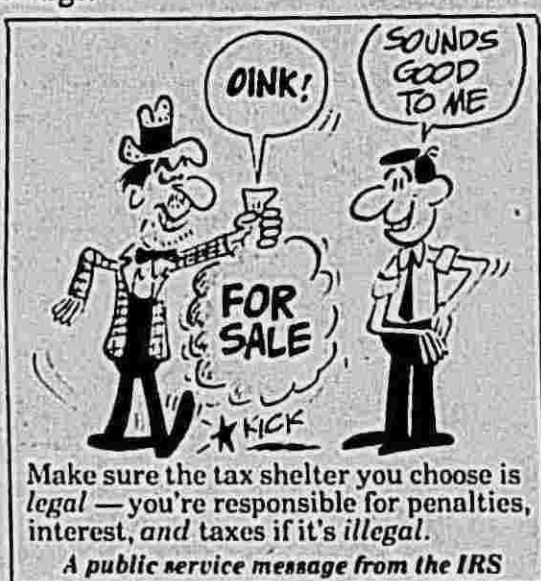

With advance written approval from the IRS, certain employers or groups of employers may apply to have the allocation percentage reduced from eight percent to as low as two percent, if they can establish that the actual tip rate of the establishment is lower than eight percent of the establishment's total gross food and beverage receipts.

Employees who earn $20 or more a month in tips while working for one employer must report the total amount of these tips each month to their employer by the 10th day of the following month. Some employers may require these written reports more than once a month.

The monthly tip report must contain the employee's name, address and social security number. The employer's name and address, the period covered and the total amount of tips must also be in the report, which must be signed and dated by the employee. Keeping daily tip records will make preparing the monthly report easier, according to the IRS.

Free IRS forms are available for maintaining a daily tip record and preparing monthly reports. Write the IRS and ask for Publication 1244 which contains the necessary forms. Publication 531, "Reporting Income from Tips," is also available without charge.

Divorced or separated parents should be aware of new rules regarding medical expenses, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Under the Tax Reform Act of 1984, divorced, separated, or married parents who have not lived together during the last six months of the calendar year, and have supplied more than half of the child's support together, can now deduct the expenses they incurred for their children's medical care. Previously, only the parent who could claim the child as a dependent was entitled to claim medical expenses.

According to the Internal Revenue Service, the child will be treated as a dependent of both parents for purposes of the medical expense deduction. This deduction creates a tax benefit for the parent who is not entitled to the exemption for the child. Without those medical expenses, the 5% medical deduction requirement might not be satisfied.

The deduction does not apply where half of the child's support is treated as being received under a multiple support agreement.

Free IRS Publication 504, "Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals," has more information on this subject and can be obtained by writing or calling the IRS.

The Human Equation in Tax Preparation

Earl J. Keating Tax Philosophy

There are a wide range of professionals available to taxpayers for preparation of their tax returns, including nationally advertised services and accounting firms. What does Earl J. Keating offer that has made this firm an excellent choice for the taxpayer since 1959?

The answer is that EARL J. KEATING CARES. I care not only about the accuracy of the return and the appearance of the return (which is TYPED!), but most importantly, I care about achieving the lowest possible tax by professional care, not computer technology.

Many companies prepare returns. I serve a client. I think about this philosophy every time I pick up a pencil to prepare a tax form. I hope you think about it, too.

Tax Laws Offer A Number Of Benefits

For older Americans, a rapidly growing segment of the nation's population, the tax laws offer a number of special tax benefits, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Single persons 65 or older do not have to file a federal income tax return if their income was less than $4,470. The limit for a married couple filing a joint return is $6,660 when only one spouse is 65 or older, and $7,700 if both spouses are 65 or over. For this purpose, persons are considered to be 65 on the day before their 65th birthday.

Anyone 65 or older is entitled to an extra exemption of $1,040. Another special benefit is the Credit for the Elderly and the Permanently and Totally Disabled. The credit can in some cases reduce taxes owed by as much as $750 for single persons and $1,125 for married couples filing a joint return. Individuals under 65 will be eligible for this credit only if they retire with total and permanent disability and have income from a public or private employer because of that disability.

Senior citizens who are thinking about selling their personal residence should consider the once-in-a-lifetime $125,000 exclusion of the gain on the sale of their home. An awareness of the tax consequence is essential before selling a personal residence at any age, but doubly so for those age 55 or older to whom this benefit applies.

Taxpayers needing assistance with their returns can turn to Tax Counseling for the Elderly, an IRS program through which volunteers from many organizations provide free tax information and assistance to individuals age 60 and over. Contact your local IRS office for locations near you.

You may obtain free publications by using the mail-order form in your tax package. Publications of special interest to older taxpayers include:

- 502 Medical and Dental Expenses
- 505 Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax
- 523 Tax Information on Selling Your Home
- 524 Credit for the Elderly and the Permanently and Totally Disabled
- 554 Tax Information for Older Americans
- 575 Pension and Annuity Income
- 910 Taxpayer's Guide to IRS Information, Assistance and Publications
- 915 Tax Information on Social Security Benefits (and Tier 1 Railroad Retirement Benefits)

Tax Benefits for Older Americans

As an older taxpayer you have an extra exemption; you may also be eligible for a credit. Use the order form in your tax package to request free IRS Publication 554 for details.

Filing Returns Early May Make Difference

Filing a Form 1040, 1040A or even the 11-line Form 1040EZ can be an ordeal if prepared in haste at the last minute.

Through the years IRS has seen a trend in filing practices. Some taxpayers file as soon as they receive their tax return packages and Forms W-2, "Wage and Tax Statements." Others prefer to wait until the last minute where running shoes are a necessity to ensure timely filing before midnight on April 15th.

However, those who wait until the last minute might find that preparing their returns earlier—even if only a week or a few days earlier—could make a big difference. Preparing the return over a two or three week period will lessen the chances for mistakes as the taxpayer will be more relaxed and take more time in completing the form and appropriate supporting schedules. Taking one's time in preparing an income tax return will reduce the possibility of making an error, and can help the taxpayer discover credits or deductions for which he or she qualifies and might have otherwise missed.

Of course, many file close to the filing deadline because they must wait for certain necessary forms, such as Form W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement," or Form 1099-INT, "Statement for Recipients of Interest Income."

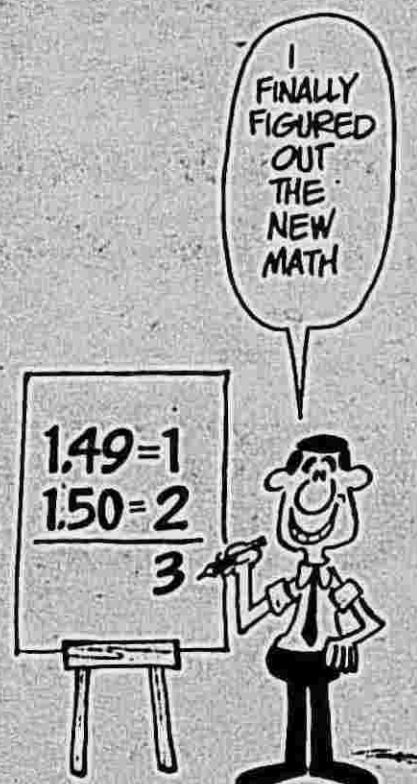

The Internal Revenue Service advises these taxpayers, if they do not receive their statements by January 31, to contact the employer or payer and request that the form be issued.

Taxpayers who still have not received their Forms W-2 by February 15 should call the IRS toll-free telephone number for their area.

Those waiting for Forms 1099-INT should note that it is not necessary to attach this form to their completed returns. All that is required is the payment information from the forms; so if the taxpayer has kept accurate records or can get the information from the issuing company, he or she can file without having received the form. The important thing to remember about filing a federal income tax return is to file by April 15.

Rounding-off

When completing your income tax return round-off your figures — saves time, cuts down on mistakes too.

BANK of WAUKEGAN

THE CHOICE IS YOURS!!!

If you haven't opened an Individual Retirement Account, you're paying more taxes than necessary. Regardless of your income, an IRA can lessen your tax bite and allow you to keep more of what you earn.

• Don't Pay Unnecessary Taxes

Your federal taxable income is reduced by the size of your IRA contribution, giving you a significant "break" at tax time. Even a modest annual contribution can make an important difference. Interest earned is tax deferred, so you gain an even greater tax advantage while saving for a more secure retirement.

• Put Your Money To Work For You

Let the Bank of Waukegan custom tailor an IRA to meet your individual needs. See our planning experts soon and make the savings choice that pays off both at tax time and at retirement.

• Make The Wise Choice

Open an Individual Retirement Account with the Bank of Waukegan.

YES, YOU CAN!

You may have seen many new satellite earth stations, or "dishes", installed in our area recently and asked yourself, "Are those dishes legal?" or, "Can I have one of those?" Well, happily the answer to both questions is YES. In 1984, the U.S. Congress approved home earth stations designed for the reception of satellite broadcasts. Not only are dishes legal to use, they are affordable, too. You can enjoy the freedom and wide variety of satellite television today.

New Century Bank Has Record Earnings

The management of New Century Bank, Mundelein assets $30,390,368 has announced record earnings for the year ended 1985, of $305,561.31 or $6.11 per share, up 24.2 percent over the preceeding year.

The earnings translate to a return on equity of 15.07 percent, up from 13.72 percent in 1984, and a return on assets of 1.05 percent, up from .88 percent in 1984.

Management strengthened the bank's capital structure by boosting its capital to assets ratio. "The capital to assets ratio is one measure of a bank's ability to withstand difficulties and we are very proud of the fact that we exceed the mark established as a guideline by the regulatory agencies," says president Dante A. Greco.

The bank, which just celebrated its tenth anniversary, attributes its strong earnings to tight internal controls and a firm loan demand.

According to Greco, "Overhead expenses actually declined this past year which isn't possible without careful attention to budget restraints." He went on to report that loan volume increased by 23.8 percent over the previous year.

"We've built a firm foundation for the coming years in 1985," said Greco referring to the formation of GNP Bancorp, Inc., a one-bank holding company.

Current law enables banks to offer certain services to their customers at the holding company level which they would be unable to offer as a bank.

"Lake County will continue to experience strong economic growth over the coming years and we plan on being a factor in that growth."

Tavenol Expands

Travenol Laboratories, Inc., has announced the signing of an agreement with Glaxo Inc. to package two of Glaxo's injectable cephalosporin antibiotic drugs in Travenol's MINI-BAG plastic containers.

The premixed, frozen forms of these products will be marketed by Glaxo Inc. in the U.S. and distributed to hospitals by Travenol.

The addition of these two drugs brings the total number of drugs available in the Travenol premix product line to 20. These premixed medications account for approximately 60 percent of the average hospital pharmacy's intravenous work load.

Premixed drugs can improve the productivity of a hospital's pharmacy operations by increasing patient safety, reducing pharmacy costs and freeing pharmacists for more direct patient care responsibilities, without increasing the work load of the nursing staff.

Fourth in...a series of "tax tip" articles provided by the National Society of Public Accountants and their affiliated State Societies.

Q.—There is some extra money in my corporation's bank account. Since I own the corporation, can I take the money as a loan and not have to pay tax on it?

A.—Loans to stockholders may be viewed as disguised dividends. If loans are necessary, it is advisable to evidence them as loans by notes carrying a reasonable interest rate, periodic repayments, etc.

Q.—Insurance premiums are so high I have decided to set up a reserve fund for self-insurance against business risks. May I deduct the money in the reserve?

A.—Amounts set aside in a reserve for self-insurance are not deductible. Self-insured losses resulting from fire or other casualty can be deducted when incurred as casualty losses.

Q.—I plan to sell my parents' home which I inherited at my mother's death. How do I figure the profit on this sale?

A.—If you inherited property, your basis in the property is its fair market value at the date of your mother's death, or on the alternative valuation date (six months after death or the date of distribution, if distributed within that six months). A special election is available for certain farm or small business real property.

Q.—I have several U.S. Savings Bonds (E bonds) and have chosen to defer the reporting of interest income from these bonds until they mature. Can I now change this policy and start reporting some of the interest income?

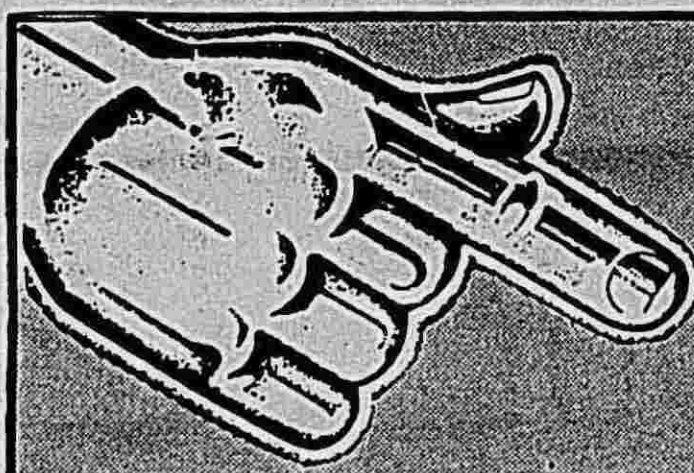

A.—You might be able to do this, but you will first have to obtain permission to change your method of reporting. This permission must be granted by the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service.

Hard-Fought Efforts Keep Businesses Growing

By SUSAN MONTGOMERY

Pulling itself up by the bootstraps is the way one local civic leader characterizes the Wauconda business community's dynamic swing into 1986.

A community that, like many other western Lake County towns, suffered from rough economic times in the early 1980s, Wauconda's current progress is the fruition of hard-fought efforts by a number of local merchants and civic organizations, said Ralph Zicco, president of Wauconda National Bank and Trust Co.

As far as new industry in the village goes, Zicco said, "All you've got to do is look around and see places like Stack-On Products and a half-dozen other companies that are here."

Selvagio, owner of Pizza Sam's, expanded the size of his store over the past year.

The Chamber of Commerce has taken an active role in luring more shoppers into the community through two promotional efforts—the Waubucks Contest in early December, and the recent "Shop Wauconda First" event.

Also on the commercial front, Wauconda will eventually be home to a new shopping plaza on the village's western boundary. Village trustees has approved the annexation and rezoning of an approximately 12-acre site along Slocum Lake Rd., Rte. 12 and Brown St. for the plaza. The shopping center will be anchored by an Jewel Foods store and an Osco Drug.

Community leaders are aiming to bring in

Island Lake Expansion

Barbara Droese, a sales associate with JMJ Construction Co., stands in front of a model townhome in the Fox River Shores development in Island Lake. The site includes single family units, ranging from about $70,000 to $90,000 and attached homes which start at around $40,000.

In its first year, about 175 multi-family units are expected to be completed with another 200 units set for next year.

The entire project, spread out over the next several years, will consist of more than 1,200 units. Developers are Pickus Construction and Equipment of Waukegan.

According to Island Lake Mayor Charles Amrich, the homesites will be attractive to first-time homebuyers, but should also bring in working couples and families who want an alternative to the higher prices in communities to the south.

"We should get a balance of both first and second-time homebuyers from that," he said.

With both single and multi-family units available, Amrich said he also expects the development to draw a mix of young working couples as well as families.

Site plans for the approximately 870-acre development call for about 200 acres to remain as open space. Another project, the Sanctuary Apartments off Roberts Rd., will house an additional 16 dwelling units.

With other building projects in the offing, Amrich anticipates that Island Lake's population will more than double during the next ten years.

Looking down the road, village officials view the possibility of such growth as beneficial to the community's future.

"You have to have growth to survive," he said.

Community Profile

In addition to an industrial park, Brans Nut, Chicago Cutlery and several other factories are now located within the village limits. Zicco cited the corridor along Rte. 12 as an emerging industrial area which will continue to draw more businesses in the next few years ahead.

As for just why the coming year will be a good year for Wauconda, Zicco said he views community involvement as a key ingredient to community growth. "A lot of local organizations continually do well as far as assisting in community projects," he said. "Because of this involvement, we now have a food pantry, for example."

Part of this activist spirit has seeped into the village's commercial sector. About a year ago, the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce launched a community-wide clean-up program to beautify and attract new businesses to the area. Local banks pledged their support and set aside loans to help insure the project's success.

A number of local merchants have taken over struggling firms or have expanded because of increasing businesses. Sam additional shoppers from outside Wauconda, once the plaza is completed.

"There may be some businesses already here that are concerned that this place will drain part of their current business," said Wauconda Village Mayor Kenneth McGill. "But in the long run, the plaza will bring in more shoppers from outside and should be profitable to everyone."

Also on the western edge of Wauconda, the Village of Island Lake is making its own sweep into the surge of construction and development. A community who population increases during peak vacation months, Island Lake is bursting with potential for future expansion.

While developers have been busy building up areas to the south, in neighboring Barrington, as well as Lake Zurich and Palatine, Island Lake is only now beginning to experience the surge of growth and still offers the wide open spaces that appeal to developers.

One residential development already in progress is the Fox River Shores subdivision just west of the village's commercial center.

Pet Of The Week

There's never a dull moment in Miss Logan's fourth grade class at Ellis School in Round Lake Beach. Floppy, the lop-eared rabbit, held by Eddie O'Connor, is sporting a Chicago Bears' helmet and a Super Bowl t-shirt. The bunny hops around the classroom all day, usually following Miss Logan. Floppy spends holidays with Eddie, his owner. We'd like to introduce your pet to Lakeland readers. Give the editor of this newspaper a call for details. —Photo by Jody Lewand.

Speech Team Wins

The Grant Community High School Speech Team competed against thirteen area schools in the IHSA Individual Events Regional Contest held at Conant High School, Feb. 1. Competitors from Grant were Dawn Dudick in Oratorical Declamation, Randy Dawson in Radio Speaking and Richard Ruesch in Humorous Interpretation.

Ruesch won a second place medal after tough competition for his interpretation of Young Frankenstein. This award moved him into the sectional competition on Feb. 8 at Crystal Lake Central High School.

Students Earn Degrees

Four Lakeland area students at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside completed requirements for degree work at the end of the fall, 1985, semester. Robert Walter of Silver Lake completed a Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree. Those completing bachelor's degrees are: Timothy Kelley of Lindenhurst; Eric Knutsen of Antioch; and Barbara Sklenicka of Round Lake Beach.

Dean's List

Roosevelt University in Chicago, announced that seven Lakeland area students made the Dean's List for the Fall 1985 semester.

To qualify, students must achieve a 3.5 or higher grade point average on a 4.0 system.

The students were:

From Antioch, James P. Done and Mark T. Stahl.

From Grayslake, Patrick M. Klemens.

From Gurnee, Diane E. Gjersten.

From Round Lake, Joseph W. DeChamp, Robert Nevens and Linda J. Wilberger.

BUYING A HOME SATELLITE DISH IS COSTLIER THAN YOU THINK.

Before you spend your hard earned money on a satellite receive dish you should learn the facts.

This year popular premium services like HBO and Cinemax will begin scrambling their signals with highly sophisticated electronic encryption devices.

And this new technique won't be limited to just premium services.

Many basic cable channels like ESPN, MTV and CNN have announced their intentions to scramble signals.

What does this mean for satellite dish owners?

In addition to paying several thousand dollars for the purchase and installation of a receive dish, it will be necessary to spend hundreds of dollars on descrambling equipment plus pay monthly service fees for each channel received.

Make your decision based on the facts.

Confident Dixon

"out" party always does well in off-year elections.

"Everybody's beatable and because of this, I think the Democrats have a good chance of gaining on the Republicans in November," he said.

"If we go by tradition, the Democrats will pick up a few seats in November," he added.

Dixon only needed a small opening to tick off in rapid fire order his accomplishments in the Senate—bringing together the Illinois Congressional delegation, promotion of Japanese investment in Illinois, acquiring highway and farm aid, passage of a "competition in procurement" law and adoption of gasoline tax rebate regulations.

Without pausing for another question, Dixon outlined his stand in support of the hotly contested Gramm-Rudman Act which caps deficit spending. "I was a co-sponsor and I know I'm making every mayor in Illinois angry, but I believe in doing something about the deficit."

The Belleville Democrat indicated that his Gramm-Rudman position could be a capstone in his reelection bid since it has strong appeal to conservatives.

At this point, it was convenient for Dixon to position himself on the political spectrum: "I'm a Harry Truman, Scoop Jackson Democrat," emphasized Dixon with his trademark, squinting grin.

When asked about his relationship with U.S. Senator Paul Simon, also from Illinois, Dixon replied, "Paul and I are good friends. We have different philosophies on some issues, but overall we get along fine. We have an excellent working atmosphere."

Dixon said he and Simon often meet two or three times a week to discuss different issues.

On his tour through Lake County, Dixon also addressed the Great Lakes issue in an attempt to create more local interest. "We've got to encourage more local support on the Great Lakes issue. We've got to show that the people care about Great Lakes and that losing it would be very critical."

The Senator addressed the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce/Industry last fall, urging support for the existence of Great Lakes.

Interest-Free Loans May Be The Answer

Small businesses whose profits are being eaten up by high heating and cooling costs should consider improving their energy systems with the help of interest-free state loans, Sen. Jack Schaffer, R-McHenry County, said.

He pointed out that the Small Business Energy Management Program of the Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs can provide free energy audits for businesses and lend them up to $6,000 to improve their energy systems.

"The Small Business Assistance Hotline (1-800-252-2923) can answer questions about the program and explain how to arrange for a free, non-technical walk-through energy audit or a loan for small businesses which would like to improve their energy efficiency," Sen. Schaffer said. "With utility rates in our area continuing to rise, businesses should do everything they can to lower their energy use."

Sen. Schaffer said businesses can borrow 40 percent of total energy project costs, up to $6,000. Businesses with assets of less than $6 million and averaged profits of less than $2 million during the past two years can qualify.

"I would like to see more businesses in our district applying for these energy loans, because they can result in huge savings," Sen. Schaffer said. "One company which revamped its heating and cooling systems expects annual savings of 60 percent on gas and 30 percent on electricity, so costs it incurred will be recovered very quickly."

Issue Book

The newest edition of the College of Lake County Speaker's Bureau directory is now available. The college offers the resources of its administration, faculty and staff to speak to civic, social, educational and community groups within the college district.

The Speaker's Bureau is coordinated by the office of public relations and requests for the directory may be forwarded to the office on the Grayslake campus.

Sealed proposals for the construction of a Community Hall Addition for Wauconda Township of Lake County, Illinois, will be received at the Wauconda Township Office located at 505 Bonner Road, Wauconda, Il, until 3:00 p.m. on March 4, 1986 and at that time will be publicly opened and read.

2. DESCRIPTION OF WORK:
The proposed construction consists of approximately 959 Sq. Ft. addition to the present Community Hall to provide washrooms to meet handicapped requirements, kitchen facilities and storage and work space.

3. INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS:
All pertinent documents may be examined at the Wauconda Township Office or at the office of Sutter & Sutter, Architects, Ltd., 631 East Park Ave., Libertyville, Il, 60048.

Copies of the plans, specifications, proposal, contract and bonds forms may be obtained from Sutter & Sutter, Architects, Ltd., 631 East Park Avenue Libertyville, Il, 60048, upon payment of $50.00, non-refundable.

A. Not less than the prevailing minimum rate of wages as found by the county of Lake, or the Department of Labor, or determined by the court on review shall be paid to all laborers, workmen and mechanics performing work under this contract.

B. QUOTE: As this construction project is to be Federally Funded, all Labor Standards and Equal Opportunity Regulations will be enforced.

C. The Contractor for this project will be required to comply, to the greatest extent feasible, with all Section "3" regulations pertaining to provisions of opportunity for training and employment to lower income residents of the project area and to the provision that contracts for work in connection with the project be awarded to business concerns located in or owned is substantial part by persons residing in the area of the project. UNQUOTE

D. All proposals must be accompanied by a bidders bond, certified check, Bank Cashier's Check or Bank Draft payable to Wauconda Township, for 10% of the total amount of the bid as provided in the instructions to bidders.

4. REJECTION OF BIDS:

The Wauconda Township Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive technicalities. Unless the bids are rejected for good cause, award of contract shall be made to the lowest responsible and qualified bidder.

Dated at Wauconda, Il, this 10th day of Feb. 1986.

Approve 15 Reserves For Sheriff

The Lake County Sheriff's Dept. is seeking applicants for the department's Reserve Deputy Unit, Sheriff Robert H. Babcox announced.

The Lake County Board approved a Resolution Feb. 11, providing for the addition of 15 Reserve Deputies to the sheriff's department after Sheriff Babcox requested to expand the program. The appointments, will bring the number of reserve deputies to 50 personnel, Babcox said.

Reserve deputies cannot carry firearms and are not paid. They must be residents of Lake County.

The Reserve Deputies assist in traffic and crowd control, disaster situations, inclement weather situations or civil disorders.

Additional information can be obtained by calling or writing the Lake County Sheriff's Dept. Special Services Division, 18 N. County St., Waukegan, Babcox said.

Club Installs Officers

The Lake County Mothers of Twins Club held a meeting on Jan. 23 at the Country Squire in Grayslake.

The following ladies were installed as officers at the meeting:

Sharon Olszewski, president; Linda Sarmiento, vice-president; Cheryl Mandro, secretary; and Jane Clarke, treasurer.

All mothers of multiple births are invited to attend the next meeting, which will be held at 7:30 p.m., on Feb. 20 at the Warren-Newport Library, 224 N. O'Plaine Rd., Gurnee. The discussion will be entitled "Girl Talk," and will address problems, unanswered questions and suggestions about children.

Present County

Lake County presented its new promotional slide program "Lake County By The Numbers" at a premiere at the Marriott Lincolnshire Feb. 13.

Lake County Board member Eleanor Rostron and Economic Development Commission Chairman J. William Baker made speeches on the benefits of Lake County as a business and residential location.

The Publicity Committee of the Lake County Economic Development Commission created the slide program to attract business to the county. It promotes the numerable assets of Lake County as a business location.

The theme "Lake County By the Numbers" was chosen because various numbers are shown that identify the advantages of Lake County as a business location. For example, the number 8,000,000 is profiled because it represents the population in the area between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Warn Of Phone Sales

Now that visions of warm vacation trips are emerging from the groundhog's shadow, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service says the season of the high-pressure telephone sales operator is about to descend on the unwary with offers ranging from "vacation savings" to "bargain prices" for vacation property.

On Jan. 23, the owner of Vacation Exchange International, Scott Alprin, was sentenced to five years in prison for stealing more than half a million dollars from people who thought they were buying vacation property timeshares. Two other sales people associated with Alprin will be sentenced in February.

Chief Postal Inspector Charles R. Clauson calls the case "highly significant" because of the number of victims involved and the number of companies now operating aggressive mail and telephone marketing programs.

"Before anyone gives a credit card number over the phone," Clauson says, "they should make sure the company making an offer doesn't have numerous complaints outstanding."

The best way to do that, Clauson says, is to check with local and state consumer affairs organizations, and if suspicious about a firm, report their suspicions to local postmasters who will contact postal inspectors.

Stewart To Speak At Chamber Luncheon

North Chicago VA Medical Center Director Lawrence C. Stewart will speak at the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce monthly luncheon Feb. 20, at the University of Health Sciences/Chicago Medical School's Rathskellar. He will discuss his medical center's operations and its economic impact in Lake County.

Stewart joined the VA in Michigan in 1968 and was appointed to his present position in 1984 after holding positions of increasing responsibility at seven other VA hospitals.

At North Chicago, he is responsible for the work of more than 2,000 employees who provide health care to veterans who annually account for 7,000 admissions and 135,000 outpatient visits.

The 125-acre VA facility on Buckley Rd., one of the largest VA hospitals in the country, includes a 1064-bed medical, surgical and long-term care hospital, a 190-bed nursing home, dental and eye clinics and numerous other outpatient clinics. The center's annual operating budget is more than $80 million.

Area Leaders Active At Legislative Meeting

The January meeting of the Lake County Annual Legislative Meeting was held at the Northern Chalet in Libertyville.

The legislators who participated in the program were: Senator Adeleine Geokaris, Rep. Bob Churchill, Rep. Virginia Fredericks, Rep. John Matajeveich, Rep. Bill Peterson and Rep. Grace Mary Stern.

Ruth Lynn, executive director of Illinois Life Underwriters Assn., moderated the program. The program was a success with a majority of members participating. The topics discussed were mandatory auto insurance, banks acting as life insurance companies and commercial insurance.

The February meeting will be on Friday, Feb. 21, at noon, at the Northern Chalet in Libertyville. Don Ogilvie, COU of Ogilvie & Taylor Securities Corporation, is the scheduled speaker.

Family Service Agency Appoints 2 Members

The Family Service Agency of North Lake County has appointed two new members to its board of directors. Reverend Darrel Hendrickson, of Calvary Temple, Lake Villa, and Larry Leonard, of Callahan, Blandings & Schaper Inc.,

Waukegan, have been appointed to three-year terms.

Executive Director Richard Mitchell says this will be the third term Reverend Hendrickson has served on the board and is pleased he has agreed to serve again. Reverend Hendrickson has been active on the board's budget and finance committee.

Leonard, a former State Senator and broadcaster, will be serving his first term and is expected to work on the public relations committee.

Two Bobs Join Hands In Mutual Admiration

by JOHN STEINKE

"Kick your rear ends today because tomorrow you may be kissing them." This piece of political wisdom was uttered by Lake County Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox. What the sheriff means is that in politics you don't have friends. In reality, you have allies and they are changing all the time. Most politicians are intoxicated with power and concerned with futhering their own political aspirations. Thus, they will cut deals with former adversaries to advance their public careers. A seasoned politician knows that yesterday's enemy may be tomorrow's ally.

The relationship between Lake County GOP Chairman Bob Neal and Dist. 5 County Board Rep. Bob Depke reaffirms the Babcox butt-kicking-kissing principles once bitter political foes, Neal and Depke resemble the Bobsey Twins today. In July, 1983, GOP Chairman Neal engaged in a nasty spat with Depke's wife. GeorgeAnne Depke had been the Lake County coordinator of Gov. James Thompson's 1982 campaign.

A controversy erupted between Neal and the Depkes regarding an appointment to the Illinois Toll Highway Authority board of directors. An appointment to the tollway authority board, which pays $15,000 for attendance at 12 meetings a year, is one of the most cherished patronage positions available to suburban Republicans. George Kangas, former Lake County Republican chairman, stepped down as party leader in 1982, and his tollway authority board term expired in 1983.

When Gov. Thompson began considering Kangas' replacement, among the candidates were GeorgeAnne Depke, the governor's 1982 campaign coordinator, and Bob Neal, Kangas' successor as the Republican county chairman. At the time, Neal and the Depkes were mortal political enemies. In December, 1982, Bob Depke ran unsuccessfully for chairman of the Lake County Board, of which both he and Neal are members. On the 80th ballot, then incumbent Glenn Miller defeated Depke for the chairmanship. Depke blamed his loss on Neal.

Neal then blocked GeorgeAnne Depke's appointment to the tollway authority. He thought that the position should be assigned to the county GOP chairman and applied for the appointment. When Neal learned that the governor wanted a woman for the direc-ported Miller's election.

Bob Neal was appalled that eight of the 19 Republican county board members had conspired with the five Democrats to elect the porting Bob Depke's reelection in District 5, which includes Libertyville, Vernon and Warren Twps. GOP Chairman Neal allegedly recruited Jerome J. Brunette of Libertyville as Depke's running mate in the spring primary.

The Depke-Brunette ticket are two of five Republicans seeking two Lake County Board nominations from Dist. 5. Neal encouraged the Depke-Brunette coalition to block the return of Twp. Supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham of Libertyville to the county board. Graham is a maverik Republican, a Depke nemesis and a sharp critic of Neal's stewardship of the party.

Steinke On Politics

torship, he asserted that GeorgeAnne Depke was an unacceptable candidate. Neal claimed that Bob Depke had threatened to split the party and GeorgeAnne Depke hadn't submitted her name to him for a recommendation, as is the procedure in patronage matters.

Gov. Thompson resolved the Lake County patronage quarrel. He gave the tollway appointment to a DuPage County candidate recommended by the state senator, who had sponsored Thompson's 1983 tax increase package. GeorgeAnne Depke pledged massive retaliation against Neal. She said, "I'm going to cream him." Well, today GeorgeAnne Depke is serving Bob Neal cream and sugar with his coffee. Neal and the Depkes have forged a political coalition in the 1986 elections.

The political bond between Bob Depke and Bob Neal developed during the last election for Lake County Board Chairman. On Dec. 3, 1984, Jim LaBelle of Zion defeated then incumbent Glenn Miller of Long Grove for the chairmanship by a 13-11 vote on the 27th ballot. The county board was stalemated for 26 ballots on the chairmanship race. Three GOP candidates divided the party vote. Miller received 11 votes. Norm Geary of Grayslake and LaBelle each garnered 4 votes. John Balen's five Democrats cast their ballots for Tony Sedar of Waukegan.

After the 26th ballot, Neal convened a party caucus. He instructed the three Republican candidates for the chairmanship to resolve the leadership issue. At this point, Geary withdrew his candidacy and pledged his support to LaBelle. On the next ballot, LaBelle's four supporters united with Geary's four Republicans and Balen's five Democrats to elect the Zion Rep. to the chairmanship. Both Neal and Bob Depke sup-chairman. With Neal, it is God, country and the Republican party, but not necessarily in that order. Neal is determined to support party loyalists in the March 18 primary against the LaBelle-Geary faction in the county board races. He is vigorously sup-

Dear Lake County Residents,

On February 2, 1986 I opened my office in Waukegan, Illinois. My reason for coming to Waukegan is to provide my Para-Medical speciality to our community.

I design, fabricate, and fit artificial limbs and orthopedic braces, as well as custom fabricated shoes for diabetics and arthritic feet. I am available on referral from doctors or for the individual who needs work or repair on their orthopedic device.

My wife and I are natives of Waukegan. I attended Carmel High School in Mundelein, Illinois, and received my Prosthetic-Orthotic education at Northwestern University.

I have worked in Orthotics and Prosthetics for almost 15 years. Until recently, I was president and co-owner of Northwest Orthotics and Prosthetics Inc., with 5 offices in Idaho and Utah.

Residing in the Waukegan area, will allow us to be near our families and friends. For many years I considered relocating my business to the city I grew up in. Now I am here to help you & your families with my services.

Sincerely,

Donald P. McKinney C.P.O.

Tabbed With Win Label

Wauconda Village Clerk Venita L. McConnel collected another GOP precinct committeeman endorsement in her bid for the Republican nomination for Lake County Clerk in the March 18 primary.

West Deerfield Twp. committeeperson, Nancy Flouret, has extended her support to McConnel's campaign.

Flouret maintained, "I am supporting Venita L. McConnel for Lake County Clerk, and I am confident that she can win both the primary and general elections. Basically, in seeking out the most qualified candidate to regain the office of county clerk, there is only one choice, that being Venita. Her many years of business background and knowing the mechanics of any office, her many years in an elected government office join together in providing the voter with an excellent candidate for Lake County Clerk. Venita's personable and friendly manner in dealing with people is a plus for the office she is seeking."

Flouret has been a precinct committeeman in West Deerfield Twp. since 1976. She is a member of the League of Women Voters; treasurer of the Twp. Central Republican Committee; current member and past president of Dist. 109 Board of Education; a member of Congressman John Porter's Education Advisory Committee; chairperson of State Sen. David Barkhausen's Education Advisory Committee and one of the 1982 Outstanding Committeemen in State Recognition Program.

Historical Society To Study Site Of Indian Culture

The Libertyville-Mundelein Historical Society will sponsor a lecture-discussion on "Cahokia Mounds," given by Dr. Dean Larson and Bob Dunn, president of the historical society, at 8 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 24 in the Community Room of Cook Memorial Library in Libertyville.

Dr. Larson and Dunn will collaborate on a study of the historical of the Indian culture at Cahokia, as well as the archaeological techniques used to explore the site.

The Cahokia Mounds lie in the heart of the American Bottom, a flood plain between the Mississippi River and the bluffs to the east. The Cahokia Mounds Museum is located near Interstate 55-70 between East St. Louis and Collinsville, Ill.

Some authorities say that Cahokia was a city, a prehistoric metropolis; others believe that Cahokia was a ceremonial center used on special occasions or at certain times of the year.

At Cahokia there is evidence of science as indicated by the archaeological remains of the Woodhenge system of astronomical observatory circles. Labor was specialized; truly elegant works of art were crafted by the ancient Cahokians.

The public is invited to this presentation which promises to be an outstanding program.

Centennial Meeting Feb. 27

In anticipation of Fort Sheridan's 100th anniversary celebration next year, over 150 letters of invitation have been sent to community leader-organization executives, veterans clubs and military interest groups to attend an organizational meeting and workshop of the post's centennial committee on Feb. 27 at 1 p.m., in the Fort Sheridan Theatre. Coffee and refreshments will be served to all.

Post commander Col. Stanley E. Thomas will welcome those attending for the opening session of the meeting, during which ideas and suggestions will be aired concerning appropriate programs, events and activities for the "centennial year" beginning next November. The celebration will be climaxed on the 100th anniversary date, Nov. 8, 1987.

Army Reserve Col. Charles J. Lucas was named executive director for a "centennial commission" by Col. Thomas.

Officials Probing Cause Of Blaze

Fire officials are still trying to determine the cause of a Hainesville fire that took two lives Feb. 14.

Christopher and Shawn Morgan, ages 5 and 3 respectively, both died of smoke inhalation at Condell Memorial Hospital in Libertyville following the two-hour fire.

Round Lake Fire Dept. Deputy Chief Rocky Pelletiere was still investigating the fire at press time. Pelletiere is filling in for retired chief Ed Glower at the Round Lake station until a new head is appointed.

The children's father, Stanley Morgan, was unable to save the youngsters from the blaze that was confined to the second-story living room and bathroom of the two-story house.

The house, located on the north side of Rte. 120, approximately 100 feet west of Barb's Florist and Greenhouse, apparently had no fire code violations.

Officials were forced to stop traffic on Rte. 120 from both directions during the height of the blaze, which occurred between 4:30-6:30 a.m.

Morgan had reportedly lived upstairs in the house with his two children, while another family lived on the first floor. The children's mother, Barbara, lives in Round Lake Park.

According to fire officials, Morgan left the building after he was unable to lead his children out of their bedroom. They say he may have been blocked by intense heat and smoke from reaching the children's bedroom.

Morgan is listed in stable condition at Condell Hospital. He was treated for suffered severe facial burns.

The children are survived by their parents; one sister, Erica Naranjo; maternal grandparents, Raul and Mary Martinez of Round Lake Heights; and many aunts and uncles.

Mood Disorders Topic of Lecture

Herbert Y. Meltzer, M.D., an internationally-known specialist in the biological approach to neurological disorders, will be the College of Lake County's Distinguished Lecturer, Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Meltzer's speech, titled "The Biological Approach to Disorders of Mood and Mentation," will be followed by a question and answer session.

Meltzer is a professor of psychiatry at Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine, Cleveland, OH. He formerly was at the University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine, where he received a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

Dr. Meltzer has received many awards for his professional contributions and has authored or co-authored more than 300 publications.

His presentation will be in the Orange Lecture Hall on the Grayslake campus. Admission is free.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Heads up, all you Rams and Ewes. What you're looking for is closer than you think. You need to shift the focus of your search. Check sources you overlooked.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Charge up with all the information you need and charge right into the situation. Delay gains you nothing at this time. Be prepared for some resistance.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Exploration continues to be the theme of your current pursuit. Don't ease up merely on someone's word. What you learn now proves vital in the very near future.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) Creative forces contend with more practical urges. If you're willing to make the effort, you can combine both to achieve a more satisfying result.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) It's okay to sink your teeth into an interesting challenge, but you lovely Leos and Leonas best beware of biting off more than you can chew. Go slowly.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 22) Take time to see what you've accomplished. You may be surprised to find how well you've done. Then take time to relax with your family. You all deserve the break.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Your personal weather chart causes changing temperatures in your life. What seemed cool warms up. What seemed too hot to the touch becomes easier to handle.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Your starry signposts have hoisted new signals. Watch for sudden turns as you move towards your goal. Follow new directions coming from a trusted friend.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Your signs indicate temporary remoteness from your usual pursuits. Spend this time meditating on what you've done and what you plan to do.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Though you may feel you've been set adrift by emotional storms, it's easy to get back on course. Let the storms die out. Then make all needed repairs.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Shake off your shyness and follow up on those earlier outreach attempts. Remember: some people think you're really well worth getting to know better.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Play follow the leader and you will find yourself stranded on someone else's shore. Your instincts are trustworthy, as usual. Follow them to the end you want to reach.
